BIG 12 CONFERENCE

The Big 12 enters its 30th year as one of the nation's premier athletic conferences in 2025-26 under the direction of fourth-year commissioner Brett Yormark.

TCU and West Virginia joined the league on July 1, 2012 and became the Big 12's first additions since its inception, joining Baylor, Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Texas and Texas Tech.

The Big 12 made four additions in 2023 when they add BYU, UCF, Cincinnati and Houston to its ranks. The conference expansion continued in 2024 when the Big 12 is added four more members in Arizona, Arizona State, Colorado and Utah, bringing the conference to 16 member institutions.

The Conference's hard work ethic and strong values have translated to enormous success in its first 28 years as it continues to innovate and change to best prepare for the future landscape of college athletics.

MOUNTAINEERS IN THE PROS

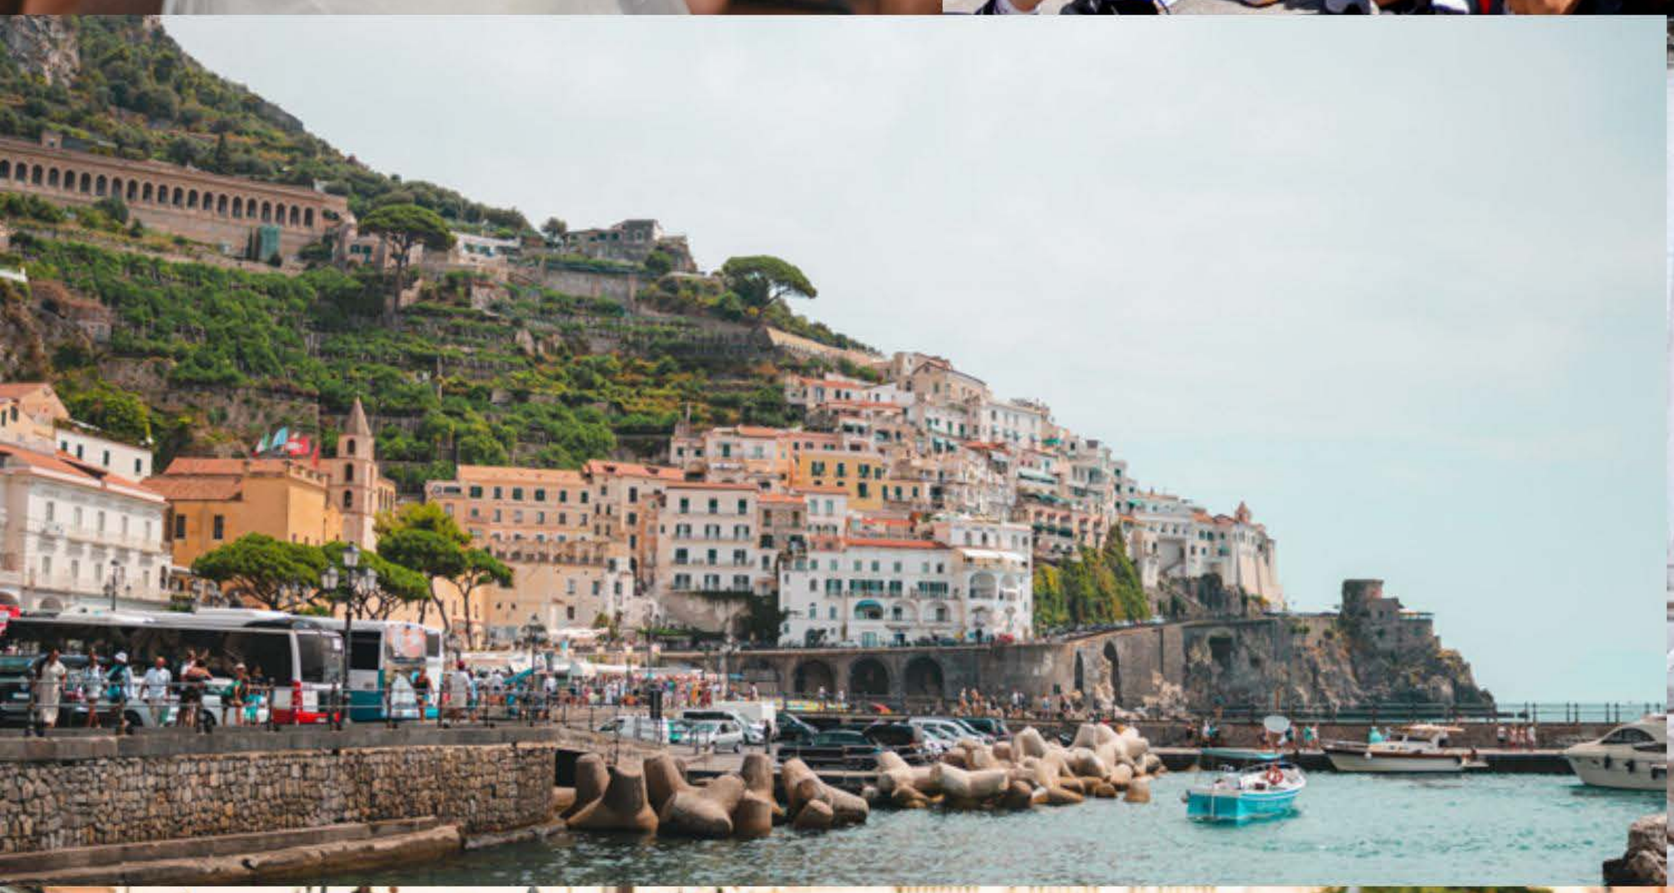
WVU is rapidly gaining a reputation for sending its own players on to the WNBA and professional ranks overseas. Since 2004, 10 former Mountaineers have had links to the WNBA.

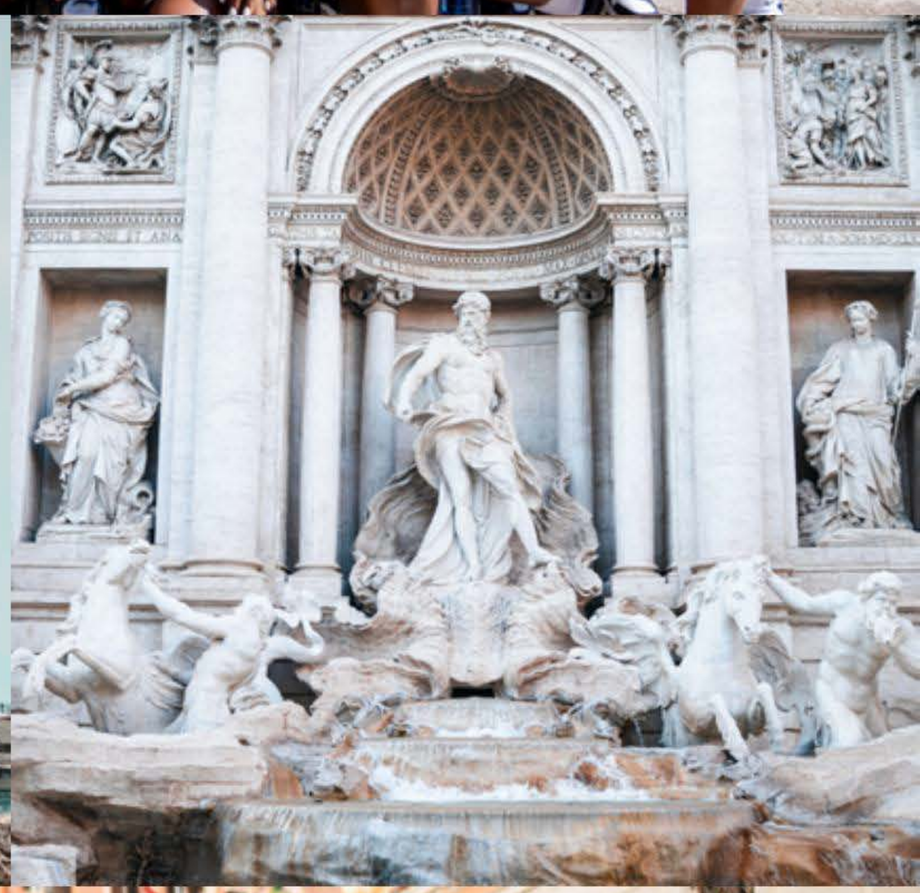
- Guard Kate Bulger (2001-04) became the first WVU player drafted in the WNBA as she went as the final pick (No. 38) in the third round to the Minnesota Lynx in 2004.
- All-American point guard Yolanda Paige became the first player out of WVU to make a WNBA roster as she was drafted by the Indiana Fever in the second round of the 2005 WNBA Draft with the 16th overall pick.
- Center Yelena Leuchanka (2004-06) played three seasons in the WNBA with three different franchises as a free agent: the Charlotte Sting in 2006, the Washington Mystics in 2007 and the Atlanta Dream in 2010.
- Olayinka Sanni (2005-08), an All-American center drafted in the second round as the No. 18 overall pick of the 2008 WNBA draft by the Detroit Shock, won the WNBA Championship her rookie season. After two seasons with Detroit, she played the 2011 season with the Phoenix Mercury. She also plays overseas.
- Center Asya Bussie (2010-14) was selected in the second round by the Minnesota Lynx as the No. 15 overall pick in the 2014 WNBA Draft. Bussie became WVU's second-highest WNBA Draft pick in program history. The Randallstown, Md., native was a two-time All-American Honorable Mention selection by the Associated Press and the WBCA.
- Guard Bria Holmes (2013-16) became the first WVU player to be selected in the first round in program history with her 11th overall section by the Atlanta Dream in the 2016 WNBA Draft. Holmes finished third on WVU's all-time scoring list with 2,001 career points and earned All-America Honorable Mention from the Associated Press and WBCA, as well as Senior CLASS Award Second Team All-America accolades.
- Forward Teana Muldrow (2013-18) was the third straight Mountaineer taken in the draft when she was selected 29th overall by the Seattle Storm in the 2018 WNBA Draft. West Virginia's all-time leader in games played, Muldrow departed Morgantown ranked in the top-10 all-time in scoring, rebounding and blocked shots, among other categories. Additionally, she earned AP All-America Honorable Mention following a stellar senior campaign in 2017-18.
- Guard Tynice Martin (2016-20) was taken with the 36th overall pick by the Los Angeles Sparks in the 2020 WNBA Draft. The two-time, All-Big 12 First Teamer finished her career as the No. 4 scorer in program history, with 1,980 career points. Martin's career numbers also put her in the top five in field goals made, 3-point field goals made and free-throw percentage.
- Guard Kysre Gondrezick (2018-21) became the most recent Mountaineer to join the W's ranks. In the 2021 WNBA Draft, the Benton Harbor, Michigan, native became the highest drafted player in program history when the Indiana Fever selected her with the fourth overall pick in the first round. Gondrezick put together one of the best senior campaigns in Mountaineer history, scoring 546 points and dishing out 125 assists. At season's end, she collected a pair of All-America Honorable Mention honors from the Associated Press and the WBCA.
- JJ Quinerly (2022-25) became the most recent Mountaineer to join the W's ranks. Quinerly was taken as the 27th overall pick in the draft by the Dallas Wings. She became the first player in WVU history to record over 2,000 points, 400 rebounds, 300 assists, and 300 steals in a career. At the end of her career, she collected a back-to-back of All-America Honorable Mention honors from the Associated Press and the WBCA and was a two time Big 12 Conference defensive player of the year.

COACH KELLOGG SAYS…

"Our coaching staff is committed to developing our student-athletes both on and off the court. Our goal is for each one of our players to leave West Virginia University as the most confident version of themselves that they can be. In addition, our positionless style of play and the attention to detail in our training translates directly to the professional level."

After helping the Detroit Shock to the 2008 WNBA Championship in her rookie season, former Mountaineer Olayinka Sanni and her teammates celebrated with President Barack Obama at the White House.





MOUNTAINEERS ABROAD

The NCAA allows programs to travel abroad as part of an international tour.

In the summer of 2024, the Mountaineers spent 11 days in Italy and Croatia, sightseeing and taking part in three games.

WVU toured the Colosseum, the Spanish Steps, the Trevi Fountain, traveled to the Amalfi Coast and Capri before ending the trip in Croatia with trips to Old Town all among other sights.

In past years, the team has traveled to:

- Australia
- Croatia
- France
- Italy
- England
- Spain
- Mexico

MOUNTAINEERS IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Choosing to become a Mountaineer is special. Without a professional sports team in the state, folks across the state and throughout the region love West Virginia athletics.

WVU women's basketball is passionate, a point of pride and a way of life, and also boasts a significant presence on the regional and national scene.

No school helps its student-athletes more than the people at WVU. West Virginia is a place where the natives are as rock solid as the mountains for which the state is known.

Mountaineers have the unique opportunity to represent themselves, their teammates and their university to news media, alumni, friends, family and the general public. Your interaction with these groups is also part of your educational process.

If you take advantage of these opportunities, it can have a positive effect, not only on your career as a student-athlete at West Virginia, but also on your life after you have donned the Old Gold and Blue.

West Virginia is covered extensively by local and national media. WVU is featured on broadcasts that range from ESPN to FOX sports, thanks to the Big 12 Conference's television partnerships.

Since 2016, the WVU Women's Basketball Coaches Show has broadcasted throughout the season live from Kegler's Sports Bar and Lounge, hosted by the Mountaineers' play-by-play broadcaster.

- Director of Athletics Wren Baker and Coach Mark Kellogg make academics the highest of priorities.
- Mountaineer graduation rates exceed that of the general student body.
- A Coliseum Academic Performance Center, completed in November 2007, occupies 8,000 square feet of the WVU Coliseum. This facility houses the Academic Services staff and contains open study areas, closed tutoring rooms and two computer labs with printing. This facility has been built specifically for student-athletes.
- West Virginia posted a perfect Academic Progress Rate (APR) score of 1,000 for the 2020-21 season.
- In 2021-22, West Virginia University's athletic teams posted a combined APR score of 989, while the women's basketball team totaled a score of 991 for the 2020-21 season.
- For the past five years, WVU's graduation success rate is 94%,

MOUNTAINEERS IN THE COMMUNITY

The Mountaineers participate in a number of community service projects throughout the season.

Introduced in 2023, Kellogg's Campers invites all girls in grades 3-8 to participate in a program where members will receive letters from Mountaineer student-athletes throughout the season, along with other benefits.

The team also interacts with its most dedicated fans as part of Hoops 'N Heels.

In past seasons, the Mountaineers have played at the Charleston Coliseum & Convention Center in Charleston, W.Va.

In 2019-20, West Virginia also played at the Beckley-Raleigh County Convention Center in Beckley, W.Va.

Past projects include:

- Play4Kay
- Toy Drives
- Teddy Bear Toss
- Flood Recovery Efforts
- Visiting Cancer Patients
- Guest Reader
- Salvation Army
- Local Elementary School Visits
- Habitat for Humanity
- "Read Across America" Initiative
- Chestnut Mountain Ranch
- Pantry Plus More
- Morgantown Area Rotary

Since 2018, the Mountaineers annually host local schools as part of Education Day. During the 2019-20 season, WVU welcomed a crowd of 10,663 fans for the event's second year, marking the second-largest crowd in program history.

WEST VIRGINIA

CHARACTER
Public, land-grant institution, founded in 1867. Across the three campuses of the WVU System in Morgantown, Keyser, and Beckley, WVU is changing lives and helping to create a brighter future. Our purpose remains to bring education, healthcare, and prosperity to our state. WVU is one of only a few flagship, R1, land-grant, community-engaged universities in the nation.

RESEARCH CLASSIFICATION
R1: Doctoral Universities – Highest Possible category, as described by the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education.

ACCREDITATION

GOVERNANCE
The WVU Board of Governors is the University's governing body. The Higher Education Policy Commission in West Virginia is responsible for developing, establishing and overseeing the implementation of a public policy agenda for the state's four-year colleges and universities. Michael Benson is WVU's 27th president.

CAMPUS LOCATIONS AND FACILITIES
The WVU System is a family of distinctive campuses united by a single mission. From the groundbreaking research of our flagship in Morgantown to the student-centered focus of WVU Potomac State College in Keyser to the technology-intensive programs at WVU Institute of Technology in Beckley, we are creating a better future for West Virginia and the world.

The WVU Institute of Technology offers 30+ majors, including undergraduate engineering programs that have consistently ranked among the top in the nation according to U.S. News & World Report.

WVU Potomac State College offers 60+ majors and combines the personal attention of a small college with the affordable benefits of a major university.

The WVU System also includes Health Sciences locations in Charleston and Martinsburg; School of Nursing campuses in Morgantown, Charleston, Keyser, Bridgeport and Beckley; farms and forests throughout the state; and WVU Jackson's Mill State 4-H Camp.

The WVU Morgantown campus is in a town that was named the "No. 1 Small City in America" by BizJournals.com for its exceptional quality of life. Morgantown was also rated the ninth best college town in America by Business Insider.

STUDENT PROFILE
Fall 2024 WVU System enrollment was 25,000+

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE
WVU recipients of prestigious scholarships include 25 Rhodes Scholars, 142 Gilman Scholars, 82 Fulbright Scholars, 53 Goldwater Scholars, 44 Critical Language Scholars, 30 Boren Scholars, 27 Truman Scholars, 6 Morris K. Udall Scholars, 5 USA Today All-USA College Academic First Team Members (and 11 academic team honorees), 3 Department of Homeland Security Scholars, 4 George C. Marshall (British) Scholars, 39 National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowships, one Jack Kent Cooke Foundation Graduate Scholar and one Schwarzman Scholar.

R1 RESEARCH INSTITUTION HIGHLIGHTS
WVU is one of only 187 colleges and universities to attain a ranking of R1, or the highest possible research category, alongside such institutions as Harvard, Yale, Columbia and Johns Hopkins.

WVU researchers are exploring the frontier in neuroscience research at the WVU Rockefeller Neuroscience Institute, doing groundbreaking work on Alzheimer's disease and addiction treatment using focused ultrasound to safely open the blood-brain barrier (reported by "60 Minutes," the New York Times, New England Journal of Medicine, the Washington Post and more).

WVU researchers are exploring the farthest reaches of the universe: dozens helped uncover evidence of ripples in space-time. mWVU is one of two or three universities that serve as a major hub for all branches of science contributing to NANOGrav – a galaxy-sized detector that is beginning to detect the gravitational universe.

Maura McLaughlin, Eberly Distinguished Professor of Physics and Astronomy, an internationally renowned WVU astrophysicist was selected as a member of the National Academy of Sciences, one of the highest honors in the scientific world.

Duncan Lorimer, Professor of Physics and Astronomy, was selected as a Fellow of the Royal Society of London.

ACADEMIC PROGRAMS
Twelve Morgantown colleges and schools offer 302 majors in agriculture and natural resources; applied and human sciences; arts and sciences; business and economics; creative arts and media; dentistry; engineering and mineral resources; law; medicine; nursing; pharmacy; and public health. Hundreds of distance education and online classes are available.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS
Students can choose from more than 450 student organizations or participate in an active intramural program and a variety of club sports.

SERVICE AND LEARNING
The Center for Service and Learning develops and organizes service learning and volunteer opportunities for students and faculty. WVU is one of only 75 schools recognized by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching for Community Engagement (recognized since 2010).

PARENTS CLUB
The Mountaineer Parents Club, with 20,000+ members, connects parents and families with the student experience.

ALUMNI
Chartered in 1873, the WVU Alumni Association is made up of more than 210,000+ graduates worldwide (in 135 nations).

LIBRARIES
The WVU Libraries encompass seven libraries statewide. Facilities in Morgantown include the Downtown Campus Library, Evansdale Library, Health Sciences Library, Law Library and the West Virginia and Regional History Center. Onsite collections include more than 936,000 books, 1.5+ million e-books and 700+ databases.

PRIVATE SUPPORT
The WVU Foundation recorded $282.6 million in gifts and pledges in fiscal year 2024. As of June 30, 2024, total Foundation assets stood at $3.04 billion, including long-term investments for the benefit of WVU and assets managed by the Foundation for other WVU-affiliated organizations.

EXTENSION
Throughout the year in West Virginia's 55 counties, WVU Extension funds and delivers West Virginia's 4-H program, which reaches more than 68,000 youth each year through county and state camps, special interest clubs, in-school activities and other programs.

ADMISSION AND APPLICATION TIMELINE
It's painless to apply — no required essays or recommendations, students are automatically considered for scholarships and can be admitted with or without ACT or SAT scores. Test scores may be required for certain majors or scholarships. Apply directly to WVU or use the Common Application. WVU offers a rolling admission (there is no official application deadline). Applications are processed beginning in late August for admission the following fall. March 1 is the deadline for West Virginia residents to submit Promise Scholarship applications. Visit admissions.wvu.edu to learn more, including how to submit official transcripts and test scores. Graduate admission (for degree-seeking applicants) requires a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited university with a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75 on a 4.0 scale for regular admission. In addition, an applicant must meet the minimum admissions criteria determined by their program of interest.

VISITORS CENTER
The WVU Visitors Center is the front door to campus, providing the warm hospitality that Mountaineers are known for in a modern, welcoming space. Tours led by current students are offered Monday through Friday and select Saturdays. Details are available at visit.wvu.edu.

HEAD COACH
MARK KELLOGG

Mark Kellogg was named the seventh women's basketball coach in West Virginia University history on April 5, 2023.

Entering his third season with the Mountaineers, Kellogg ranks as the seventh-winningest active Division I women's basketball coach by winning percentage, holding a career record of 495-136 (.784).

In just two seasons at WVU, Kellogg has made a historic impact. He led the Mountaineers to back-to-back 25-win seasons—the best two-year start by a head coach in program history. The 50 total wins during that span are the third-most in any two-season stretch at WVU and mark the first time the program has recorded consecutive 25-win campaigns.

Kellogg has coached one AP All American in JJ Quinerly (2024 and 2025), a Big 12 Conference Defensive Player of the Year in JJ Quinerly (2024 and 2025), a Naismith Defensive Player of the Year Finalist in JJ Quinerly (2025) and five All Big 12 Conference Team selections. Additionally, he has produced one WNBA draft pick in JJ Quinerly (2025).

In his second season with West Virginia (2024-25), Kellogg compiled his second straight 25-win season, the best two season start by a head coach in program history. The 50 wins during his first two seasons marked the third most wins in a two season span in program history and the first to win 25 in back-to-back seasons. He guided the Mountaineers to a fourth-place finish in the Big 12 regular season and West Virginia's 16th all-time bid into the NCAA Tournament, reaching the second round. WVU was ranked every AP Top 25 poll, including finishing the season as the 21st-ranked team in the country. JJ Quinerly became the programs 11th WNBA Draft Pick of all-time and the first for Kellogg.

In his first season with West Virginia (2023-24), Kellogg compiled 25 wins, marking the most ever by a first-year coach in program history. He guided the Mountaineers to a fourth-place finish in the Big 12 regular season and West Virginia's 15th all-time bid into the NCAA Tournament, reaching the second round. WVU was ranked in the AP poll nine times, including finishing the season as the 24th-ranked team in the country.

Prior to West Virginia, he spent eight seasons (2015-23) at Stephen F. Austin where he compiled a 195-55 (.780) mark with seven consecutive seasons of 23 wins or more.

Kellogg's list of accomplishments at Stephen F. Austin are endless. He led the Ladyjacks to six straight postseason appearances, two regular season conference championships and two tournament championships along with Southland and then WAC Conference Coach of the Year honors. In the past six years, Stephen F. Austin has been the second winningest women's basketball program in the state of Texas, and Kellogg has guided SFA to its highest NET and RPI rankings in school history.

In the last five postseasons not affected by COVID, the Ladyjacks appeared in two NCAA tournaments and three WNITs. At SFA, his Southland and WAC conference mark was 120-22 (.845) and his overall career conference mark stands at 274-57 (.828) in 18 previous seasons as a head coach.

Prior to Stephen F. Austin, Kellogg spent two seasons at West Texas A&M where he compiled a 62-6 record and led the Lady Buffs to a Division II runner-up finish in 2014 and an Elite Eight appearance in 2015. His teams won the regular season and tournament championship of the Lone Star Conference in both seasons, and finished No. 2 and No. 6 in the final WBCA national rankings.

Before West Texas A&M, Kellogg spent the 2012-13 season as head coach at Northwest Missouri State where he increased the school's women's basketball win total by nine games from the previous season. He went 15-13 in the lone season and finished No. 8 in the MIAA Conference after being picked to finish No. 14 in the preseason.

Kellogg started his head coaching career at Division II Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colorado. In seven seasons, he guided the Skyhawks to five straight NCAA tournament appearances and won the first postseason game in the school's history. He compiled a 173-46 record (.789), winning four conference championships with a Sweet 16 appearance in 2009 and a Division II runner-up finish in 2010. On October 24, 2024, Kellogg was inducted into the Fort Lewis Athletics Hall of Fame.

Kellogg got his start in coaching in 1998, when he served as a graduate assistant men's basketball coach for two years at West Texas A&M. In 2001, he moved to Montana State as assistant women's basketball coach and helped the Bearcats to Big Sky Championships in 2002 and 2003. He coordinated the offensive strategy for the team in 2005 before taking on his first women's basketball head coaching assignment at Fort Lewis College.

He graduated from Austin College in Sherman, Texas in 1998 with a bachelor's degree in communications and physical education and earned his master's degree in sport and exercise science from West Texas A&M in 2000.

Kellogg and his wife, Trisha, are the parents of a son (Camden) and a daughter (Kayli).

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH
JC CARTER

JC Carter enters his third season as the associate head coach for the West Virginia University women's basketball program. He joined the Mountaineer coaching staff on April 20, 2023.

In the 2024–25 season, Carter helped guided WVU to a fourth-place finish in the Big 12 and the program's 16th NCAA Tournament appearance, advancing to the second round. The Mountaineers were ranked in every AP Top 25 poll throughout the season, finishing at No. 21 nationally. Star guard JJ Quinerly capped off the season by becoming the program's 11th WNBA Draft pick.

During his first season in 2023–24, Carter led WVU to 25 wins—the most ever by a first-year staff in program history. The team also finished fourth in the Big 12 and earned its 15th NCAA Tournament berth, again reaching the second round. WVU appeared in the AP poll nine times and ended the season ranked No. 24.

He came to Morgantown with 20 years of coaching experience, including 10 at the NCAA Division I level. During his career, he has coached two all-American players, two freshmen of the year, and secured the fourth-best recruiting class in the country in 2018.

Carter previously served as the Associate Head Coach at Texas Tech University for the past three seasons. In his first season, he helped the Lady Raiders to the program's highest conference finish under a first-year head coach in the Big 12 era and the most Big 12 wins by a TTU team led by a first-year head coach in eight seasons.

Over three seasons, Carter helped rebuild a Texas Tech program, winning 21 contests over his first two seasons before compiling 20 wins during the 2022-23 season. The 20 wins marked the first time since the 2012-13 season TTU had reached the mark.

Before Texas Tech, Carter spent two seasons (2018-20) as an assistant coach at Florida State, where he helped lead the Seminoles to a 48-17 record.

One of his main responsibilities at FSU was handling the team's guard play, which included standout years by seniors Nicki Ekhomu and Nausia Woolfolk. Ekhomu garnered her first-ever All-America season as a senior, averaging 14.9 points and having a 2.0 assist/turnover ratio. Ekhomu led FSU with 16.0 points in ACC play and earned her first selection to the All-ACC First Team.

Carter played an integral role in FSU defeating six AP Top 25 teams in 2019-20 and finishing with a 24-8 overall record (11-7 in ACC play). FSU made the program's second ACC title game ever after defeating top-seeded Louisville, 62-60, in the ACC Tournament Semifinals.

Prior to his stop in Tallahassee, Carter was an assistant at Utah State for four seasons (2014-18). While with the Aggies program, he oversaw player skill development, ran summer camps and facilitated the recruiting effort. Under his watch, the 2015-16 season was highlighted by the Aggies ranking in the top half of the Mountain West Conference in every offensive category.

In his four seasons at Utah State, he helped two players earn Mountain West Freshman of the Year honors in guard Eliza West (2017) and fellow guard Funda Nakkasoglu (2015).

Prior to a brief stint as a men's assistant coach at John Brown University (2013-14), Carter spent two seasons at the helm of Marshfield High School (Mo.). In 2011, Carter took over the Blue Jay program at Marshfield, leading the boys' team to back-to-back conference championships. In his first season, Carter was named the Central Ozark Conference Coach of the Year as his team made an appearance in the MHSHAA 4A Top-10.

He spent four seasons in multiple capacities at his alma mater, Southwest Baptist University in Bolivar, Mo. He was named the assistant men's basketball coach in 2007 and quickly helped lead the program to a Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association (MIAA) Championship in 2008. After one season with the men's program, Carter assumed his first collegiate head coaching position, taking over the SBU women's team for three seasons. His Lady Bearcat teams were known for their three-point prowess, as SBU ranked second in the nation in triples made.

Carter also spent time on the west coast, moving to Los Angeles to take charge of the Village Christian High School boys team. After two seasons (2004-06), he was offered an assistant coaching position at Cal State Northridge, where he worked for the 2006-07 season coordinating recruiting efforts, team travel and opponent scouting reports.

He started his coaching career when he went to assume the director of basketball operations position at Texas-Pan American for the 2003-04 campaign, spending a single season in Edinburg.

Carter's playing career began at Angelina College in Lufkin, Texas, where he spent one season in NJCAA competition prior to transferring to Stephen F. Austin for his sophomore campaign. In 2000, Carter transferred for his last two years at NCAA II Southwest Baptist in Bolivar, Mo., where he earned the Greg Germany 2002 Senior Leadership Award for his efforts. There he earned his Bachelor of Science in Kinesiology.

ASSISTANT HEAD COACH

ERIN GRANT

Erin Grant enters her third season as an assistant head coach for the West Virginia University women's basketball program. She joined the Mountaineers' coaching staff on April 14, 2023.

In the 2024–25 season, Grant helped guided WVU to a fourth-place finish in the Big 12 and the program's 16th NCAA Tournament appearance, advancing to the second round. The Mountaineers were ranked in every AP Top 25 poll throughout the season, finishing at No. 21 nationally. Star guard JJ Quinerly capped off the season by becoming the program's 11th WNBA Draft pick.

During his first season in 2023–24, Grant led WVU to 25 wins—the most ever by a first-year staff in program history. The team also finished fourth in the Big 12 and earned its 15th NCAA Tournament berth, again reaching the second round. WVU appeared in the AP poll nine times and ended the season ranked No. 24.

Grant came to Morgantown after serving as the assistant coach at the University of Arizona for the past two seasons. There she helped the Wildcats to their ninth and 10th NCAA Tournament berths in program history. In both seasons, the team advanced to at least the second round while finishing with 20-plus wins in both campaigns.

Last season, Arizona ranked third in the Pac-12 in field goal percentage, hitting 43.8% of its shots, and fourth in scoring offense with an average of 74.1 points per game. Four Wildcats earned All-Pac 12 honors.

In her two years at USC, Grant coached two young Pac-12 stars Endiya Rogers and Alissa Pili. As freshmen in the 2019-20 season, Rogers and Pili were the team's two top scorers averaging a combined 29 points per game while Pili was named the 2020 Pac-12 Freshman of the Year. As sophomores they combined to average 26 points per game as Rogers was named All-Pac-12 and Pili was honorable mention All-Pac-12.

Grant also was a major part in securing one of the best 2021 recruiting classes in the nation, helping bring in two McDonald's All-Americans and the No. 7 class in the country.

Grant had an impressive playing career as a standout point guard, earning All-America honors while at Texas Tech before being selected 39th in the 2006 WNBA Draft by the Seattle Storm. She also got early international experience as a member of the 2005 USA Basketball World University Games team, which won gold in Turkey. While playing at Texas Tech, the Arlington native was a two-time All-Big 12 First Team selection and was the 2003 Big 12 co-Freshman of the Year. She also was a three-time All-Academic First Team honoree.

As a pro, Grant was drafted by the Seattle Storm in 2006 before playing overseas where she was named team MVP of Stockholm 08, helping the team win a Swedish championship. She played the 2008 season in the WNBA with the Houston Comets.

After concluding her professional playing career, Grant was an assistant at UT Arlington for four seasons (2008-11), helping the program reach the 2009 WNIT. Grant went on to serve as an assistant at Memphis for four seasons (2013-16) in addition to spending three seasons as an assistant at New Mexico (2012, 2017-18) before landing back at her alma mater, Texas Tech as recruiting coordinator.

Grant graduated from Texas Tech University with a Bachelor's in Business Administration in 2005 before earning her Master's in Business Administration from TTU in 2006.

In 2018, Grant was inducted into the Texas Tech Hall of Fame for her prestigious playing career in Lubbock. She set the Texas Tech program record for career assists (844) and scored 1,108 points while leading the Lady Raiders to three NCAA Tournament appearances, including a run to the Sweet 16 in 2005.

ASSISTANT COACH

JESSICA GRAYSON

Jessica Grayson enters her third season as an assistant coach for the West Virginia University women's basketball program. She joined the Mountaineer coaching staff on April 14, 2023.

In the 2024–25 season, Grayson helped guided WVU to a fourth-place finish in the Big 12 and the program's 16th NCAA Tournament appearance, advancing to the second round. The Mountaineers were ranked in every AP Top 25 poll throughout the season, finishing at No. 21 nationally. Star guard JJ Quinerly capped off the season by becoming the program's 11th WNBA Draft pick.

During his first season in 2023–24, Grayson led WVU to 25 wins—the most ever by a first-year staff in program history. The team also finished fourth in the Big 12 and earned its 15th NCAA Tournament berth, again reaching the second round. WVU appeared in the AP poll nine times and ended the season ranked No. 24.

Grayson came to West Virginia after serving as the associate head coach and recruiting Coordinator at the University of Missouri-Kansas City last season. She has familiarity with the Big 12 following a stint as the assistant coach at Oklahoma State University during the 2021-22 season.

Overall, she brings 17 years of collegiate coaching experience to the Mountaineer program. Most notably, she has prior experience working with coach Kellogg, serving as the assistant head coach at Stephen F. Austin University from 2016-21. There she helped guide the Ladyjacks to five consecutive 23-plus win seasons and a 122-31 overall record and a 76-12 mark in conference play.

In those five years, Stephen F. Austin qualified for four post-season tournaments, including a trip to the NCAA Tournament, two WNIT appearances and a WBI appearance. The Ladyjacks won one Southland Regular Season and one SLC Tournament title as well as earning the No. 12-seed at the 2021 NCAA Tournament. The seed was the highest for an SLC team since 2011.

Grayson's mentorship over the years developed one All-Big 12 selection, 23 All-SLC performers, one SLC Player of the Year, one SLC Newcomer of the Year, one SLC Tournament MVP, three Missouri Valley All-Conference selections, four Ohio Valley Conference selections and four All-Gulf South Conference performers.

Before Stephen F. Austin, Grayson made stops as an assistant coach at Illinois State (2013-16), Austin Peay (2010-12), and Tennessee Martin (2007-10), along with serving as a graduate assistant at Valdosta State (2005-07).

At Austin Peay, Grayson helped her team to a 50-12 overall record. The mark includes a 30-2 record in the Ohio Valley Conference where the Governors achieved two NCAA Tournament appearances and two OVC Regular Season and Tournament titles.

Grayson has recruited and coached 40 all-conference players during her career while pushing 16 of her players to the 1,000-point mark in their careers.

The McMinnville, Tennessee, native played basketball at Columbia State Community College, earning NJCAA All-American honors. She then transferred to Austin Peay State University, where she graduated in 2005 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Health and Human Performance.

At Austin Peay, Grayson helped her team to a 50-12 overall record, including a 30-2 mark in Ohio Valley Conference play. Her play pushed the Governors to two NCAA Tournament appearances, and two OVC Regular Season and Tournament titles.

Grayson also earned her master's degree in health and physical science at Valdosta State.

ASSISTANT COACH/DIRECTOR OF RECRUITING

KASONDRA MCKAY

Kasondra McKay joined the Mountaineer women's basketball team in July of 2025 as an assistant coach and director of recruiting.

McKay has over a decade of coaching experience and comes to Morgantown after coaching stints at Colorado State, Northwestern State, North Texas and LA Tech.

McKay, a native of Arlington, Texas, spent the last two seasons on the women's basketball staff at Colorado State where she served as the programs assistant coach and recruiting coordinator.

At Colorado State, she led the Rams to back-to-back 20-win seasons. She led CSU to 22 wins last season, which were the most wins in a season in nine years. In her second signing class with Colorado State, McKay played a large role in recruiting guards Kloe Froebe and Brooke Carlson, who both earned Mountain West All-Freshman recognition in their first season at CSU. Additionally, she helped bring in Creighton transfer Emma Ronsiek, who went on to be named Mountain West Newcomer of the Year and earned WBCA All-America Honorable Mention. McKay also added top portal transfer Lexi Bargesser, a guard from Indiana University, in the spring of 2025.

During her two seasons at LA Tech (2020-22), McKay helped the Lady Techers to a 35-22 overall record, a Conference USA West Division title during the 2021-22 season, an appearance in the C-USA championship game in 2022 and a pair of bids to the WNIT. McKay helped coach four All-CUSA selections, including the CUSA Preseason Player of the Year. and several C-USA Preseason and LSWA All-State selections. While with LA Tech, McKay led the program's community service and volunteer efforts.

McKay spent four seasons on staff at North Texas (2015-19). She was part of a coaching staff in Denton that helped take a 5-win program and turn it into an 18-win team in 2018-19 when the Mean Green advanced to the semifinals of the WBI. The 18 wins were the most in more than a decade and the win over UT-Rio Grande Valley in the opening round of the WBI was its first postseason victory in program history.

McKay was responsible for recruiting both domestically and internationally, and in 2019 the Mean Green's signing class was the top among C-USA programs. McKay was instrumental in inking one of UNT's biggest signings, Anisha George, who came to Denton from the Virgin Islands. George was a NJCAA Region 16 Player of the Year, NJCAA Second Team All-American and member of the Virgin Island National Team.

Prior to LA Tech, McKay was an assistant at Northwestern State (2013-15) where she helped guide the program to the 2014 and 2015 Southland Conference championship and back-to-back appearances in the NCAA Tournament. In the NCAA tournament, Northwestern State squared off against powerhouse programs in Tennessee (2014) and Baylor (2015). The program won a combined 40 games during her tenure and posted a perfect 7-0 record in its Southland Conference title runs. During her time with the program, Northwestern State produced three All-Southland Conference players.

During her playing days, McKay was a two-year letterwinner at North Texas (2010-12) after starting at Weatherford Community College. She was named the North Texas Newcomer of the Year in her first season.

McKay is a graduate of Weatherford College in 2010 where she earned her associates in arts, North Texas in 2012 earning a bachelor's in science Kinesiology and Northwestern State where she received a master's in sports administration in 2015.

McKay is married to Travis McKay, both graduates of Sam Houston High School and has a son Taj.

VIDEO COORDINATOR

CADEN ROBERTS

Caden Roberts enters his third season with the women's basketball profram. He came to Morgantown after spending the 2022-23 season at UNC Wilmington where he served as the Director of Women's Basketball Operations. There he oversaw the program's operating budget while coordinating all meals and team travel including flights, hotel reservations, and ground transportation and ensured that expenses were within budget guidelines.

He also helped run practices, plan community service initiatives, supervise the program's support staff and organize and direct the Seahawk Basketball camps.

Roberts adds previous basketball operational and player development experience. He served as the Video Coordinator for the Gardner-Webb men's basketball team from 2021-22. There he produced scouting edits and video playbooks for the team's scouting reports. He led the student managers and was an assistant coach for the school's junior varsity program.

From 2018-19, Roberts was a Video Coordinator at Fairmont State. He aided in practices, arranged film exchanges with opposing teams and created analytical reports for game planning with the Falcons.

Roberts received a Bachelor of Science in Sports Management from West Virginia in 2021. As a freshman, he assisted as a student manager for the Mountaineers women's basketball team. He is a graduate of Martinsburg High.

SUPPORT STAFF

NATASHA OAKES

Sport Administrator

Natasha Oakes' tenure as Senior Associate Athletics Director and Senior Woman Administrator (SWA) for West Virginia University began on Aug. 15, 2022.

Oakes serves on Bakers senior staff and oversees the department's areas of sport governance, gender equity and Title IX initiatives. She represents the department as its Senior Woman Administrator (SWA) on Big 12 and NCAA governance groups and serves as the sport administrator for women's basketball and Olympic Sports.

As the department's chief diversity officer, she directs and coordinate the department's efforts to advance DEI initiatives and oversee the Every Mountaineer Committee. She also serves on various department and University committees and represents WVU Athletics on NCAA and national professional committees.

Oakes comes to West Virginia from North Texas where she has been since 2017. In her most recent role there as the executive senior associate athletics director, she oversaw all areas of NCAA, Conference USA and institutional compliance for all 16 Mean Green athletic teams.

In addition to her compliance responsibilities, Oakes was the senior woman administrator (SWA), Title IX deputy coordinator, chief diversity officer and had oversight of the men's and women's cross country/track and field programs.

At North Texas, she was chair of the NCAA Division I Progress Toward Degree Waivers Committee, and subcommittee chair of the NCAA Division I Track and Field and Cross Country Group. Additionally, she was a board member for the Minority Opportunities Athletic Association and served on the Legislation and Governance Committee.

Before North Texas, Oakes worked at Missouri Western State University from 2014-2017, where she was the associate athletic director for internal operations and SWA. As a member of the athletics senior staff, she had direct sport supervision over nine sports, while also overseeing the compliance, academics and Title IX needs of the department.

Prior to her time at Missouri Western, Oakes worked at the NCAA for four years (2010-2014) as an assistant director of academic and membership affairs. In that role, she was responsible for providing legislative interpretations, conducting rules education, and overseeing the legislative relief waiver process.

Oakes got her start in collegiate athletics at the Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association (MIAA) in 2004 as the Assistant Commissioner for Compliance and Internal Operations. With the MIAA, she managed compliance and governance matters, while also serving as a championship manager for select spots and working with conference budget and financial affairs.

The Topeka, Kansas, native earned her master's degree in sport and fitness management from Missouri Western State University and her bachelor's degree in business from Emporia State University, where she was a track and field student-athlete.

Additionally, Oakes is a graduate of the prestigious Dr. Charles Whitcomb Leadership Institute, which was formerly known as the NCAA Leadership Institute for Ethnic Minority Males and Females.

KAYLA SCOTT

Director of Basketball Operations/ Assistant to the Head Coach

Kayla Scott joined the Mountaineer women's basketball staff in April 2023 as director of operations. She came to Morgantown with 10 years of basketball operations and coaching experience at the NCAA Division I, II and Junior College levels.

Scott joined Mark Kellogg's staff following one season with the University of Arizona where she served a similar role as the Wildcats' director of basketball operations. There she controlled and planned all aspects of team travel, budgeting and meals while assisting with donor relations, community service and weekly and yearly scheduling of the program.

Before Arizona, Scott spent six seasons as the director of basketball operations at Stephen F. Austin. She served on Kellogg's staff in Nacogdoches during a successful tenure that included six straight 23-win seasons, back-to-back NCAA Tournament appearances, two regular-season conference championships and a Southland Tournament championship.

The Texas native managed SFA's team travel, budgeting, scheduling and on-campus visits among other duties during her time with the Ladyjacks. Prior to her tenure at SFA, Scott spent two seasons as an assistant coach at Cameron University and Western Texas College.

Scott is a 2013 graduate of Howard Payne University where she was a member of the Yellow Jackets' women's basketball program. As a guard, Scott appeared in 92 games in her career and was a three-time selection to the American Southwest Conference's All-Academic Team.

ZACK ALLEN

Strength Coach

Zack Allen enters his ninth season as the strength and conditioning coach for the Mountaineer women's basketball team. In addition to women's basketball, Allen handles the strength and conditioning responsibilities for the WVU tennis team.

Prior to his arrival in Morgantown in June 2017, Allen served as the assistant strength and conditioning coach at the United States Military Academy in West Point, New York, for two years.

While with Army, he oversaw the max strength and power programs for men's and women's soccer, men's and women's swimming & diving, men's tennis, men's and women's track & field and rifle. Allen demonstrated and taught proper techniques, while helping download and analyze data to help student-athletes enhance their performance.

Allen served as a graduate assistant in the strength and conditioning department at Michigan State from 2013 to 2015. With the Spartans, he was responsible for designing and implementing strength programs for women's soccer and women's gymnastics.

He holds certifications from the National Strength and Conditioning Association and the American Red Cross in First Aid, CPR/AED. Allen also is certified by the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association.

Allen is a 2011 graduate of Lock Haven University with a bachelor's degree in recreation management. He completed his master's degree in kinesiology with a strength and conditioning specialization from Michigan State in 2015.

He resides in Morgantown with his two sons, Maximus and Atlas, and a daughter, Calliope.

JAVIERA GONZALEZ

Athletic Trainer

Javiera Gonzalez joined West Virginia University's athletic training staff in August of 2025 and currently serves as the athletic trainer for the Mountaineer women's basketball program.

Gonzalez responsibilities include day-to-day care, rehabilitation and injury prevention.

The native of Santiago, Chile came to Morgantown from McNeese State University, where she began working in 2021 as an Intern Athletic Trainer for the Women's Soccer and Women's Tennis teams. Following that stint she was promoted to full-time for two seasons at McNeese.

Javi spent two years as a Graduate Assistant Athletic Trainer at Nicholls State University in Thibodaux, Louisiana, where she received her Master's Degree in Higher Education. In her two years, she provided coverage for the Women's Soccer, Men's and Women's Track & Field, Men's and Women's Tennis, and Cross Country Teams

Javi attended Lincoln Memorial University, where she was a tennis student-athlete while completing her Bachelor's Degree in Athletic Training.

She is a NATABOC Certified Athletic Trainer, licensed Athletic Trainer in the state of Louisiana and West Virginia. She holds certifications in First Aid & CPR/AED for the professional rescuer and she is a certified Sports Nutritionist Consultant.

Javi plays in a futsal league, workout, runs long distances, and continues to play tennis once in a while. She enjoys staying active overall and is married to Luke Cody and has a dog named Bella.

CHRIS COOMBS

Assistant Director of Athletic Communications

Chris Coombs joined the WVU Department of Intercollegiate Athletics in February of 2023, where he serves as an Assistant Director of Athletics Communications and the primary contact for the WVU women's basketball and rifle teams.

Coombs previously served as the Sports Information Director at Lindsey Wilson College, an NAIA institution, in Columbia, Kentucky.

He joined the Lindsey Wilson staff in 2017 where he served as a Sports Information Intern before moving into the program's assistant SID role. He worked as the department's assistant for three years beginning in the fall of 2018 before taking over as the head of the department in 2021.

During his tenure with Lindsey Wilson, Coombs helped lead the communication efforts for one NAIA football national championship (2020) and one NAIA volleyball national championship (2017).

A Warren, Pennsylvania native, Coombs was responsible for managing the communication efforts for twenty-six varsity sports. His department accrued fifteen national honors from the annual NAIA-SIDA Media and Publications Contest for his work on graphics, feature stories, feature videos and media game note packets at Lindsey Wilson.

Coombs earned his bachelor's in sport management and a bachelor's in journalism from Miami of Ohio University and his master's degree in sports management from Cumberland University.

TRYSTAN LAYTON

Assistant Director of Creative Content

Trystan Layton joined the West Virginia Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and Women's basketball in June 2024 as the Assistant Director of Creative Content.

In this role, Layton will coordinate with women's basketball and develop their social media and recruiting initiatives.

Prior to WVU, Layton was the Basketball Creative Content Graduate Assistant at VCU, working with both the men's and women's programs during the 2023-24 campaign. In this role, he was responsible for producing social media content along with assisting their recruiting content efforts.

Originally from Whitney Point, New York, Layton received his bachelor's degree in sports media from Susquehanna University in 2023, and his master's degree in sport leadership from VCU in 2024.

BREE PORTER

Academic Counselor

Bree Porter joined the Mountaineer student-athlete development staff in 2023 as an academic counselor.

In this role, she is responsible for providing academic support for baseball and women's basketball student-athletes in the areas of study skills, note taking, time management, test-taking strategies, personal and skill development and instruction in course work.

She monitors and documents the academic progress of the student-athletes, assists the students with course schedules and selecting academic majors and helps student-athletes with learning disabilities to acquire and use accommodations.

She previously served as a graduate assistant in academic services working with golf, in addition to serving as an intern in the athletics' marketing department.

Porter spent a year working at Trio Academy in Oshkosh, Wisconsin, as a behavior technician and she also has experience as a high school assistant and head AAU basketball coach.

She earned her bachelor's degree in business management from University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh in December 2021, and earned a master's degree in sport management at WVU in 2023.

She spent two seasons competing in basketball and track at Hillsdale College in Hillsdale, Michigan.

Porter resides in Morgantown.

TRYSTAN LAYTON

Director of Nutrition

Jonathan Wu joined West Virginia University Athletics as assistant director for nutrition for Olympic sports in August 2025.

Wu joins the Mountaineers after working as the fuel station manager for the Penn State football program since July 2024. In this position, Wu managed 25 student interns, managed the inventory of the food station and oversaw the aspects of nutrition programs within the program.

Wu also worked as a sports nutrition intern with the Auburn football team and the Florida State football program. While at Auburn, he oversaw the team's hydration, monitored athletes and evaluated new products to add to the fueling station.

A graduate of Penn State University, Wu holds a B.S. in nutritional sciences and an M.S./DI in exercise physiology from Florida State University. He is also a registered dietitian through the Commission on Dietetic Registration.

KYLE KEESLER

Equipment Manager

Kyle Keesler began his role as assistant equipment manager in 2015 and was promoted to equipment manager in June 2019. He helps with the day-to-day equipment operations for men's and women's basketball and he also oversees the baseball team's daily equipment needs.

Prior to his full-time stint at WVU, Keesler served as the head clubhouse manager for the West Virginia Black Bears, the short-season A affiliate of the Pittsburgh Pirates. While in that capacity, he handled day-to-day operations including daily transportation for players and staff, ordering team meals, and issuing officially licensed game day and workout gear. Additionally, he handled laundry for both the visiting and home teams.

Keesler served as the head women's basketball manager for WVU women's basketball for five seasons. He handled daily practice and game operations and assisted with office duties. He traveled with the team and helped organize equipment, uniforms and other needs for road contests. He assisted the graduate assistant with mail outs, data entry and recruiting visits. Keesler served as the Mountaineers' equipment room liaison helping issue gear, laundry and other needs.

A.J. MONSEAU, MD

Team Physician

A.J. Monseau, M.D., WVU Medicine Emergency Medicine and Sports Medicine physician, has been the head team physician and medical director for WVU Athletics since 2017.

In 2016, Dr. Monseau served as the team physician for WVU Men's Basketball. He also served as team physician for USA Wrestling at the 2016 Olympic Games in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

As head team physician and medical director for WVU Athletics, Monseau leads the University's staff of team physicians and works in conjunction with the athletic training staff to provide healthcare to all student-athletes. This includes injury prevention, treatment, rehabilitation, education, and counseling.

Originally from the Northern Panhandle, Monseau received his medical degree from and completed his residency training at the WVU School of Medicine. He then completed fellowship training in primary care sports medicine at the University of Michigan School of Medicine. He returned to his alma mater upon completion of his fellowship in 2011.

Currently, Monseau is an associate professor in the WVU Department of Emergency Medicine. In addition to working as an attending physician in the J.W. Ruby Memorial Hospital Emergency Department, he also sees sports medicine patients through WVU Medicine Orthopaedics. He is board certified in emergency medicine and primary care sports medicine.

Athletics have always been a part of Monseau's life. After completing a three-sport career at Wheeling Park High School, Monseau carried his love of sports through his undergraduate education, during which he competed on the West Liberty University (then West Liberty State College) wrestling team for his father, who is a National Wrestling Hall of Fame coach. Though he gave up competing when he began medical school, he made sure to choose a specialty that would allow him to remain connected to competitive sports.

SEASON OUTLOOK

The West Virginia University women's basketball team returned to the court on Tuesday, Sept. 24, for its first official practice of the 2025-26 season. Second-year coach Mark Kellogg's squad features eight student-athletes from last year's team, including four of five starters, and six newcomers.

KELLOGG'S FIRST TWO SEASONS OF SUCCESS

Head Coach Mark Kellogg has brought the Mountaineers back into the national spotlight across his first two seasons in Morningtown. His leadership has led WVU to back-to-back NCAA Tournament appearances and 31 appearances in the Associated Press Top 25 poll, including all 21 polls a season ago for just the second time in program history.

Kellogg led WVU to 25 wins in his first season, which was a program record for most wins by a firstyear head coach. The team finished fourth in the Big 12 regular season, made the NCAA Tournament, and reached the second round. WVU was ranked in the AP Top 25 nine times, ending the season ranked 24th. The 202425 season saw another 25win season finishing again tied for fourth in the Big 12 and another second round NCAA Tournament finish, WVU was ranked as high as No. 12 throughout the season, ending at #21 in the AP poll.

His teams have become known for a defensive pressure style that has consistently led the nation in turnovers forced and steals among power five programs. He has proven he is a coach who fosters and develops talent, helping JJ Quinerly earned AP AllAmerican honors (2024 & 2025), Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year (2024 & 2025), and was a finalist for the Naismith Defensive Player of the Year in 2025. She also became a WNBA draft pick under his coaching, becoming the programs 10th WNBA Draft pick.

Kellogg is a proven winner, boasting 495-136 record and a .784-win percentage across 20 collegiate seasons. His win percentage is the fourth best in the nation among active coaches with 10 or more seasons at the DI level. His 50 wins in Morgantown are the most in program history across the first two seasons of a head coach.

JORDAN HARRISON

CELIA RIVIERE

HARRISON'S SENIOR SEASON

Heading into her senior season, Harrison is expected to assume a larger leadership and scoring role on the team. With departures of players like JJ Quinerly, Harrison will be asked to carry more offensive load and make more aggressive scoring plays.

In early October, she was selected to the 2025-26 Preseason All-Big 12 Team, marking her first preseason all-conference recognition. The Oklahoma City, Oklahoma native earned all-conference honors in each of her first two seasons as a Mountaineer and added a defensive team selection.

Harrison serves as the Mountaineers consistency, playing in and starting all 66 games of her Mountaineer career and averaging over 30 minutes of action per game. Across two seasons, Harrison has totaled 898 points, 321 assists and 167 steals.

She has managed a 1.6 A/TO ratio in two seasons and averaged 13.6 points per game, the second for a Mountaineer over the span.

SHAW'S ROLL SET TO EXPAND

After transitioning from a role player at Auburn to a full-time starter at West Virginia, Sydney Shaw made an immediate impact in her first season in Morgantown. Starting all 32 games for the Mountaineers, Shaw emerged as a reliable scoring threat and a cornerstone of the team's perimeter attack.

Known for her sharpshooting ability, Shaw led WVU with 67 made three-pointers last season, stretching defenses and creating space for her teammates. But her contributions went far beyond the arc. She posted career highs across the board after averaging 11.4 points, 3.7 rebounds, 1.6 assists, and 1.8 steals per game. She shot an efficient 41.8% from the field and an impressive 88.1% from the free throw line.

Shaw's growth wasn't just statistical. She evolved into a trusted offensive initiator, capable of creating her own shot and facilitating ball movement. Her defensive instincts also stood out, often guarding top perimeter threats and generating turnovers that led to transition opportunities. She finished the season with

As the Mountaineers prepare for the upcoming season, Shaw is expected to take on an even larger role. With her blend of shooting, defensive tenacity, and emerging leadership, she'll be a focal point on both ends of the floor. WVU will look to her not only for scoring and spacing, but also for poise and consistency in high-pressure moments.

MORE ON THE RETURNERS

This season will feature some familiar faces, with two of five starters from a season ago set to return to the court for the season. Sophomore Jordan Thomas joins Harrison and Shaw in returning this season with starting experience in the Gold and Blue as each have starts on an NCAA Tournament team.

Collectively, the group of five returners has appeared in 340 games while making 209 starts. Harrison, Shaw and Thomas each combined for 67 starts last year.

Thomas returns as WVU's top scoring interior presence, having averaged 6.2 points and 4.1 rebounds per game last season. Her physicality in the paint and ability to finish around the rim make her a reliable option in the post. With a year of Big 12 experience under her belt, Thomas is expected to take a leap forward in both production and consistency.

Celia Rivière brings a steady veteran presence to the frontcourt. Averaging 3.3 points and 2.8 rebounds last season, she contributed valuable minutes off the bench and showed flashes of defensive versatility. Her experience and basketball IQ will be crucial as WVU integrates new talent into the rotation.

Woodley returns as a defensive specialist and energy player. She posted 3.9 points and 1.8 steals per game last season, often tasked with guarding the opponent's top threat off the bench. Her hustle and ability to spark momentum plays make her an invaluable piece of the Mountaineers' defensive identity.

NEW FACES, BIG POTENTIAL

Coach Mark Kellogg and his staff brought in six newcomers to finalize the 2025-26 WVU women's basketball roster including one graduate Transfer, four juniors and one freshman.

Six newcomers join the roster, including high-impact transfers like Gia Cooke (Houston), Kierra Wheeler (Norfolk State), Riley Makalusky (Butler), Loghan Johnson (Texas Tech) and Carter McCray (Wisconsin). The Mountaineers round out their roster with Freshman Madison Parrish.

The transfer class is touted as one of the best in the country, bolstering a combined 345 games played and 227 starts.

Cooke is a dynamic scoring guard, joining WVU after a breakout season at Houston where she averaged 12.4 points, 2.5 rebounds, and 1.9 assists per game. She started 22 games and led the Cougars in scoring nine times, including a career-high 25 points against TCU. A former four-star recruit, Cooke brings a competitive edge and versatile offensive skillset to the Mountaineers' backcourt.

Wheeler arrives in Morgantown as one of the most decorated HBCU players in recent years. She earned First Team All-MEAC and MEAC Defensive Team honors last season, averaging 15.8 points, 8.9 rebounds, and 2.4 blocks per game. A dominant post presence, Wheeler started all 34 games for Norfolk State and helped lead the Spartans to a MEAC title and NCAA Tournament berth. She has twice been named the MEAC Tournament Most Valuable Player.

Makalusky is a versatile forward with perimeter shooting ability, who played in 32 games with 23 starts last season at Butler, averaging 8.1 points and 2.8 rebounds. She earned Big East All-Freshman Team honors in 2023-24 and led the conference in three-point percentage (46.1%). Her size and shooting range make her a valuable stretch option in WVU's frontcourt.

SYDNEY WOODLEY

SYDNEY SHAW

RILEY MAKALUSKY

Johnson played in all 37 games for Texas Tech last season, averaging 5.5 points and 2.5 rebounds while shooting an efficient 52.3% from the field. A former ESPNW Top-100 recruit, she brings athleticism, defensive intensity, and scoring versatility. Johnson was a two-time TABC Player of the Year in high school and helped lead her team to back-to-back state titles.

McCray is a physical forward who averaged 10.6 points and 7.1 rebounds last season at Wisconsin. She recorded five double-doubles and posted a season-high 22 points against Northwestern. As a freshman at Northern Kentucky, she was named Horizon League Freshman of the Year after averaging 15.7 points and 11.2 rebounds.

The lone freshman on this year's roster, Parrish is a four-star recruit ranked No. 90 nationally by ESPN. She averaged 17.2 points, 3.0 assists, and 2.6 steals as a senior and earned multiple All-Ohio and All-Conference honors. A combo guard with strong shooting and defensive instincts, Parrish is expected to contribute early in WVU's fast-paced system.

THIEVERY

The Mountaineers have become one of the best defenses in the nation during the Kellogg era, due in large part to aggressive and relentless full-court pressure. The tactic resulted in turnovers and easy transition buckets. The Mountaineers have consistently ranked among the nation's most disruptive and efficient defensive units, helping fuel back-to-back 25-win seasons and NCAA Tournament appearances.

The Mountaineers thrived on ball pressure and aggressive perimeter defense, often dictating tempo and forcing opponents into low-percentage shots. Their ability to convert defense into offense was a key factor in their transition game and overall scoring efficiency.

Last season, the Mountaineers finished with the best turnover margin in the in the Big 12 and second best in the nation among power five programs at +7.91. They added 23.5 turnovers forced and 13.6 steals per game which were the most from a power five program. The effort led to allowing just 55.7 points per game, which led the Big 12 and ranked 15th nationally and second best among the power five.

This season looks to be more of the same for the Mountaineers as WVU return the bulk of its production in steals from a season ago. Harrison (71), Shaw (57) and Woodley (54) combined for 181 steals last season, the most from any returning three in the nation.

West Virginia officially begins its second season under Coach Kellogg on Monday, Nov. 3, against Purdue Fort Wayne at the WVU Coliseum in Morgantown. The Mountaineers open Big 12 Conference play on Sunday, Dec. 21, against Houston at home.

THE HISTORY OF WEST VIRGINIA WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

THE FIRST WOMEN'S BASKETBALL TEAM AT WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY

Due to the implementation in 1972 of Title IX, a mandate by Congress for schools receiving federal monies to provide women with the same athletic opportunities as their male counterparts, West Virginia started the sport in 1973.

Then-athletic director Leland Byrd selected Kittie Blakemore to coach the first women's team, gave her the keys to one of the University vans, and provided the team with a 10-game regular-season schedule against local colleges.

For Blakemore, who had spent the prior 14 years as an instructor in the school's physical education department, starting the women's program was a great challenge.

"In the beginning," remembers Blakemore, "we weren't sure if we were going to be with the physical education department or the athletic department. We wanted to be with athletics because, financially, they were more stable. Once that was settled, we found out we had other problems."

What the former coach refers to was the lack of available talent from which to choose. Of the 37 players who tried out for the first women's team, only a handful actually knew how to play the game. One player was told by her high school coach that a good shot should not hit the backboard, so she thought she had blown every bank shot that went in. Another thought when the team went into a press, she was not allowed to move.

"Basketball had just started in West Virginia, so the girls really didn't know that much about the game," recalls Blakemore, a native of Manassas, Va. "I remember going to the first West Virginia high school state tournament and thinking to myself, `Oh my, I've got to recruit these girls!'"

Blakemore did find 15 players good enough to play, and after one quit, Blakemore, her assistant Barbara Walker, trainer Diane Nolan and 14 players traveled to West Liberty to play the school's first women's game on January 16, 1974. Because team uniforms had yet to arrive, the Mountaineers played with "pinnies" -- a vest-like jersey that ties at the waist. Despite the slight inconvenience, the Mountaineers performed admirably.

Leading throughout, West Virginia captured a 59-55 decision over the NAIA school. Leslie Sergy paced the Mountaineers with 18 points, with Sara Roberts scoring 11 and Cindy "Sam" Booth and Celeste Knaus each adding eight points. Booth, described as the women's version of Ernie DiGregorio, was a team favorite. Though having just one year of organized basketball experience, she displayed uncanny skills in all facets of the game.

The Mountaineers lost their next seven games before besting West Liberty again, 42-38. In all, West Virginia lost 10 of 14 games that season, but it didn't take WVU long to have a winner.

KITTIE BLAKEMORE: HEAD COACH 1973-92

The women's basketball program was started by the late Kittie Blakemore in 1973. As the school's head coach from 1973-92, she won 301 games and guided three postseason teams, two of which qualified for the NCAA tournament.

Four of her teams won 20 or more games in a season and she helped develop the University's first and only Kodak All-American in Rosemary Kosiorek. Her influence on women's athletics reached far beyond the Mountain State. Through her service on several prestigious national committees, Blakemore had an impact on the development of women's basketball and is recognized as one of the sport's true pioneers.

Upon retiring from the Mountaineer bench in 1992, she maintained close contact with the women's basketball program as WVU's senior women's administrator, a position in which she served until her retirement in 1997.

Because of her dedication and interest, the athletic programs at West Virginia University will benefit for many years to come.

Blakemore was selected to the West Virginia University Sports Hall of Fame in 2003. She died July 29, 2020.

1974-82: WORKING UP TO THE FIRST 20-WIN SEASON

The following season, with more time to practice and a little more money to spend, West Virginia won 13 of 17 games and followed with a sterling 19-7 record and a state title in 1977. The team's top player was Mary Hennen, whom Blakemore convinced to join the team as a sophomore.

Hennen, at 5-11, was one of the team's tallest players. A native of Wheeling, W.Va., the forward led the team in scoring each year she played and totaled 1,112 career points to become the first WVU player to pass 1,000 career points. She scored a then school-best 33 points against Salem in 1976, and averaged 13.2 points per game for her career.

After the 1977-78 season, during which West Virginia posted an 18-9 record and finished second in the state tournament, WVU and Marshall were forced to leave the West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference because the schools were "too big" for the smaller colleges.

Subsequently, West Virginia competed as an independent and its record dipped to 9-16. The following year, WVU lost 19 of 29 games and, in 1981, the Mountaineers went 15-18.

There was, however, one significant event that took place during this period. Cathy Parson, a brilliant guard from Hagerstown, Md., was given a partial scholarship to attend WVU -- the first athletic grant given in women's basketball. It was bumped to a full scholarship a year later when J.D. Drummonds and Patricia Ryan were offered full rides. Parson scored 2,115 points during an outstanding career that culminated with a third team All-America citation in 1983. One of the school's all-time great players, her retired jersey and a plaque rest in a trophy case located in the WVU basketball practice facility. Parson was elected to the WVU Sports Hall of Fame in 1996, making her the first female ever to be bestowed with that honor.

Following the 1981 season, Blakemore hired Bill Fiske as an assistant coach to help with the growing burdens of recruiting and strategy. Fiske had coached high school basketball in Florida for several years and was known as a basketball strategist.

The Blakemore-Fiske combination steered West Virginia to an outstanding 20-11 record in 1982, the school's first 20-win season. The most memorable win during that landmark campaign was an 81-79 upset over Penn State at the Coliseum, the school's first victory over the Nittany Lions.

1983: JOINING THE NCAA & GAINING NATIONAL ATTENTION

Joining the NCAA in 1983 after seven years in the AIAW, the Mountaineers also spent their first season in the Atlantic 10 Conference, which was created in 1976 for men's basketball and known as the Eastern Eight up until that time. WVU recorded a 17-12 mark that season and advanced to the semifinals of the conference tournament.

The talk of the team that year wasn't about its second straight winning season, but rather about a 6-7 center who could dunk a basketball. Georgeann Wells came to WVU as a highly touted prep star from Northland High in Columbus, Ohio. After a short time of adjustment, she averaged 11.9 points per game as a freshman. She went on to score 1,484 points, pull down 1,075 rebounds and block 436 shots from 1983-86, all remarkable accomplishments. But to most, the points, the rebounds, the blocks ... all that was fine. But Wells could dunk, and dunk hard!

Performed several times in scrimmages and once waved off in a game against Massachusetts during the 1983-84 season due to an offensive foul, Wells was ready to make history.

The opportunity came against Charleston on December 21, 1984 at Elkins' Randolph County Armory during the Mountaineer Christmas Classic. With 11:18 remaining in the game and West Virginia comfortably ahead, Wells took a full-court pass from Lisa Ribble and soared to the basket for a one-handed stuff. The dunk instantly made her a national celebrity. Network television, Sports Illustrated, an NCAA luncheon in New York, a display in the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame and induction into Houston's Phi Slama Jama dunking fraternity were just a few of the highlights of one of the school's most memorable moments. Unmatched until 1994, the feat is still one of the sport's most talked about accomplishments.

Lost in all of the dunking hoopla was Wells' teammate Olivia Bradley. A 6-1 rebounding warrior from Bradenton, Fla., it was Bradley who made it possible for the 6-7 center to get out on the wing for the historical dunk. Bradley snared an amazing 1,484 career rebounds for a 12.7 per game average, the eighth-best mark in NCAA history.

After another 17-12 mark in 1984, West Virginia, with Fiske now promoted to co-head coach, boasted the strongest team in its 10-year existence. WVU returned all five starters, including Wells and Bradley. The duo led WVU to its second 20-win season and, more importantly, steered the Mountaineers to the Women's NIT in Amarillo, Texas. Though losing two of three games, the inclusion in the eight-team tournament was a major stepping stone for the growing program.

Then in 1986, it all came crashing down for Fiske. Entering the season with an inexperienced team, the late coach, suffering from diabetes, spent his extra time teaching the young team, rather than caring for his physical ailment. Flying back from the Orange Bowl Classic in Miami, he went into diabetic shock and nearly died on the plane. He subsequently lost his sight and was unable to continue to coach. Volunteer assistant Scott Harrelson and Blakemore finished the season with a 12-17 record, impressive considering the circumstances.

Georgeann Wells blocked 17 shots against Marshall on Dec. 3, 1983.

1989: WVU'S FIRST ATLANTIC 10 TITLE & NCAA TOURNAMENT BERTH

Promoted to assistant head coach the following season, Harrelson and Blakemore steered the Mountaineers to a 28-29 record the next two years, before guiding WVU to a brilliant 24-8 mark in 1989.

Among those teams West Virginia defeated in 1989 were Alabama, Oklahoma, Rice, Arizona State, Western Kentucky, Penn State and St. Joseph's. Beating Penn State in the first round of the Atlantic 10 tournament, the Mountaineers then upset St. Joseph's in the semifinals and defeated Temple, 63-54, in the championship to secure their first-ever Atlantic 10 title and NCAA tournament berth. Defeating Western Kentucky 66-57 in the first round, the Mountaineers lost to Virginia in the second round to end an improbable season.

Senior Jenny Hillen paced West Virginia at 15.8 points per game, followed by Judy Eaton at 13.8. Other standouts on that team included Dionne Morris, Tracey Slogik and an outstanding group of freshmen in Rosemary Kosiorek, Donna Abbott, Lori Wilson and the late Jocelyn Branham. Three years hence, that group evolved into the finest senior class in school history.

WVU defeated Clemson 73-72 in the 1992 NCAA East Regional game held at the WVU Coliseum to advance to the Sweet 16.

1990-92: WVU'S FIRST NCAA SWEET 16 APPEARANCE & COACH BLAKEMORES RETIREMENT

After a 19-10 record in 1990 and a 17-12 mark in 1991, West Virginia was prepared for an outstanding 1992 season, as was Rosemary Kosiorek. The Baltimore native averaged more than 20 points per game as a junior and earned mention on the Kodak all-East team.

There was nothing the diminutive point guard couldn't do. She could shoot, she could pass, she could dribble past anyone and she could score. Averaging more than 24 points, Kosiorek also averaged more than seven assists to rank among the nation's leaders in both categories.

While she was scoring, Donna Abbott was rebounding. A prolific scorer early in her career, Abbott threatened Cathy Parson's school scoring record until a nagging knee injury slowed her. Playing with considerable pain most of her career, Abbott still managed more than 1,500 points and 1,000 rebounds.

After defeating Florida in the season opener, West Virginia lost to only Virginia and Western Kentucky the rest of the way to finish the regular season at 25-2. Ranked as high as No. 10 in the nation, West Virginia cracked the nation's Top 25 for the first time in school history after an 81-60 home win against Arkansas.

Losing to Duquesne in a dramatic upset in the first round of the conference tournament cost West Virginia a possible No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament. Still seeded fourth, the Mountaineers defeated Clemson 73-72 in front of more than 8,000 fans at the Coliseum in one of the finest moments in school history. Backup Jodie Runner nailed a short jumper with seconds remaining to capture the decision. The storybook season ended a week later with a loss at powerful Virginia, 103-83.

Kosiorek secured Kodak All-America honors and also was named the Frances Pomeroy Naismith national player of the year. She finished her career scoring more than 2,000 career points and is considered by most to be the school's finest all-around player ever. Like Cathy Parson, her jersey and a plaque reside in the WVU Coliseum.

At 26-4, West Virginia finished ranked No. 14 in the nation by USA Today and No. 11 by AP. After the season, Kittie Blakemore retired, ending an outstanding reign during which she accumulated 301 career wins and three postseason berths during 19 seasons.

1993-2000: COACHING CHANGES

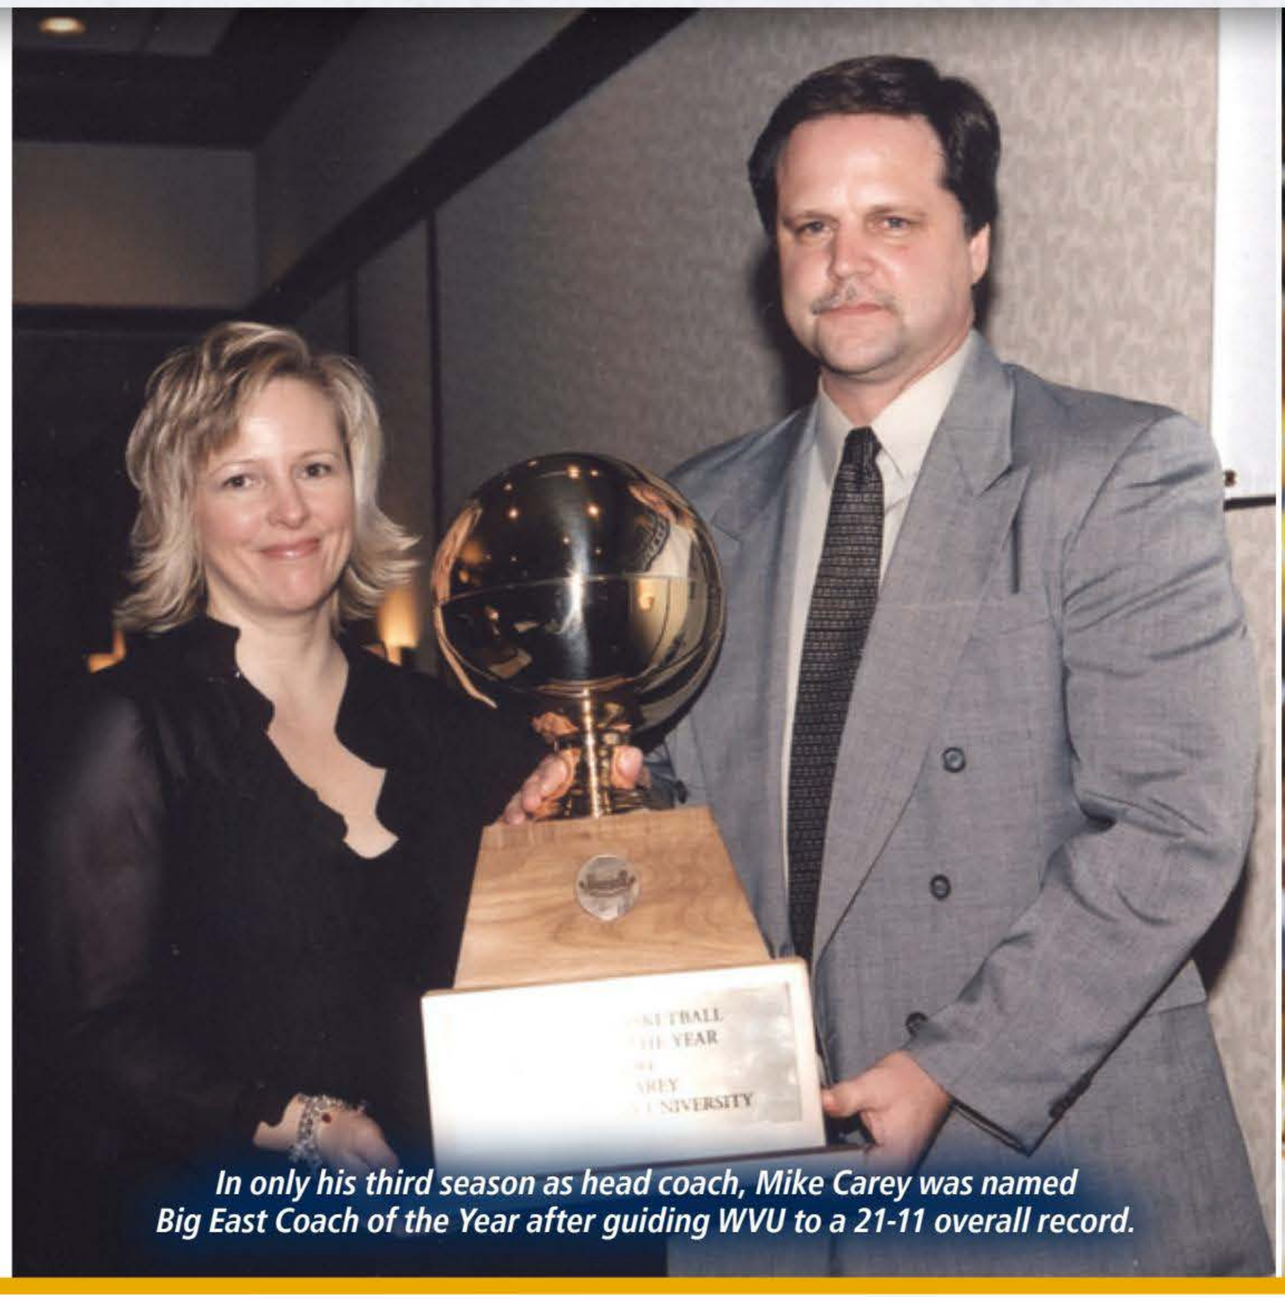
The program struggled for three seasons under Scott Harrelson, posting three straight losing marks. Harrelson then gave way to Susan Walvius in 1995. Walvius directed West Virginia to 12-15 and 19-12 records before leaving for South Carolina.

In 1997, former player Alexis Basil took over the program. The Mountaineer star from 1984-87 had senior Talisha Hargis to lead the way in her first year. Hargis would finish her career as the third leading scorer in WVU history with 1,751 points. Hargis, who led the Mountaineers in scoring three straight years, also holds the school records for free throws made (530) and attempted (750) and recorded 20 or more points in a game 33 times.

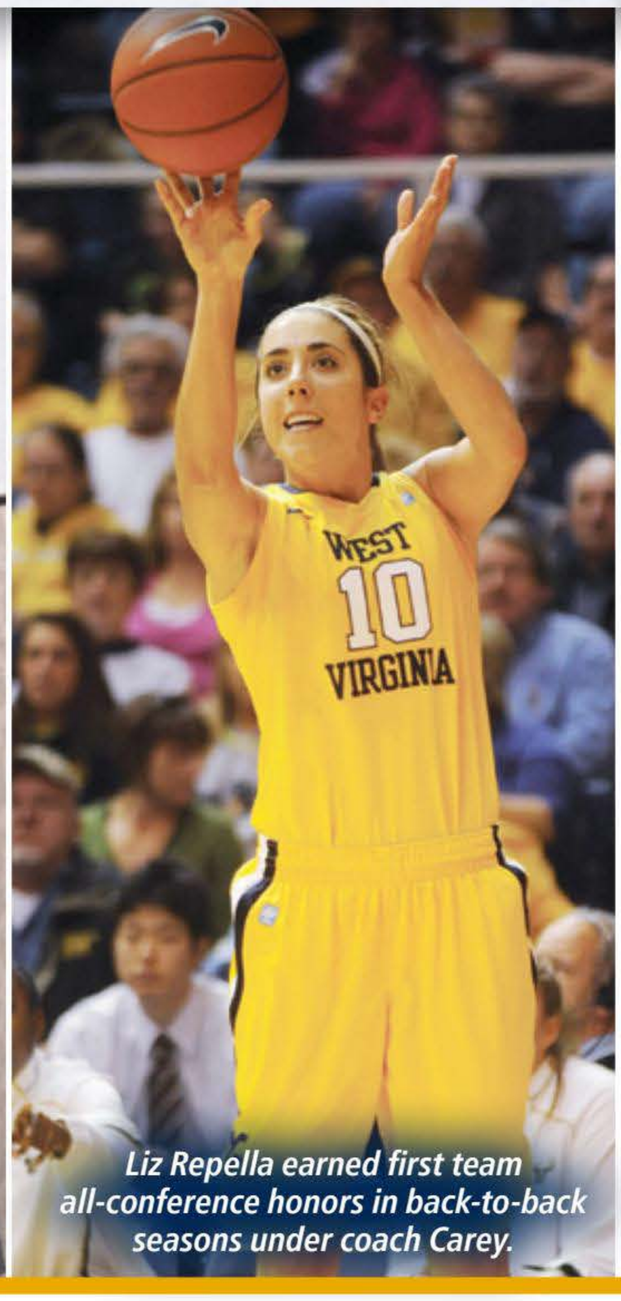
Basil boasted four seniors on the 1998-99 squad, all of whom reached the coveted 1,000-point plateau. Maria Tchobanova finished her career with 1,426 points, ninth best on WVU's all-time list, while Christie Lambert scored 1,282 points to place her 11th, Rebecca Burbridge, named the 1999 BIG EAST Scholar-Athlete of the Year, scored 1,179 points placing her 13th all-time and Ilse Opstaele is ranked 17th all-time with 1,079 career points. It marked the first time in school history that such a prolific scoring corps was assembled on one team.

The next two seasons were tougher as the squad was on the road for the entire 1999-2000 season due to asbestos abatement at the Coliseum and suffered through injuries in 2000-01. The squad finished with a 11-44 overall record, 4-28 in the BIG EAST in those two years. Basil's final record stood at 33-77 during her four seasons.

THE CAREY YEARS 2001-2012



In only his third season as head coach, Mike Carey was named Big East Coach of the Year after guiding WVU to a 21-11 overall record.



Liz Repella earned first team all-conference honors in back-to-back seasons under coach Carey.

Former Salem College men's basketball coach and Clarksburg native Mike Carey was named the program's sixth coach in the spring of 2001, and it didn't take him long to work his magic. In his third season, Carey put together the third-most wins in school history with a 21-11 campaign in 2003-04. More importantly WVU returned to the NCAA Tournament after a 12-year hiatus. For his efforts, he was named BIG EAST Coach of the Year.

In his first season, Carey guided the Mountaineers to a 14-14 record, a return trip to the BIG EAST Tournament after a one-year absence and the school's first winning regular season in five years.

In his second season at the helm, Carey led WVU to a 10-0 start en route to a 15-13 mark and the first winning season since 1996-97. The Mountaineers were also 11-0 in non-conference competition for the first time in school history.

In 2004-05, Carey guided WVU to its second-consecutive 20-win season with a 21-13 mark and a berth in the postseason WNIT championship game. It marked the first time in school history that WVU posted back-to-back 20-win seasons and back-to-back post-season berths. The Mountaineers won a school record four postseason games while senior Yolanda Paige set the WVU career record with assists at 902 while sophomore guard Meg Bulger captured the BIG EAST scoring crown and became the first player in school history to be named to the league's first team.

Paige and Bulger were named honorable mention All-Americans by the AP and WBCA/Kodak, respectively.

Despite his first losing record at WVU (15-16), Carey guided the 2005-06 Mountaineers to uncharted territory with a remarkable run to the BIG EAST tournament championship game, marking the first time in school history West Virginia had made it to the title game.

As the No. 12 seed in the tournament WVU knocked off No. 5 Louisville, No. 4 St. John's and No. 1 Rutgers and trailed No. 2 Connecticut by just one point with 30 seconds left in the championship game.

The run was unprecedented. No previous 12-seed had even won a tournament game in the 23-year history of the BIG EAST women's championship. The Huskies won the title by a 50-44 count but the Mountaineers captivated the national ESPN2 audience with one of the most remarkable runs in conference tournament history.

Sophomore Chakhia Cole and junior Britney Davis-White were named to the all-BIG EAST tournament, while Bulger garnered all-BIG EAST second team accolades and more importantly, Associated Press, honorable mention All-America honors.

All five starters from that remarkable run returned for the 2006-07 campaign and the Mountaineers didn't disappoint. WVU posted an 11-5 record in BIG EAST play earning its first-ever tournament first round bye as the No. 4 seed en route to a 21-11 overall mark. The league record also marked the second-best turnaround from one regular season to the next in the BIG EAST.

WVU also was 13-1 at the WVU Coliseum, the second-best single season home mark in school history and eventually picked up its first NCAA tournament win since 1992 with a convincing 65-52 win over Xavier in Austin, Texas.

The core of that team once again returned in 2007-08 ready to re-write the record books. WVU posted a 25-8 record which were the second-most wins in school history. The Mountaineers also boasted a 12-4 BIG EAST mark good for a third-place finish in the highly touted league, WVU's highest finish in school history. Along the way, West Virginia upset No. 4 Rutgers, 63-54, the highest-ranked team the program has ever defeated. All told, WVU beat three ranked opponents including No. 14 Notre Dame and No. 18 Pitt.

The Mountaineers were ranked in the nation's Top 20 in the Associated Press and ESPN/USA Today Coaches' polls all season long, marking a school first. WVU was also ranked for the first time since 1992.

With the largest senior class in school history, West Virginia boasted four career 1,000-point scorers, marking the second West Virginia team and 12th overall in NCAA history to have four on one team.

WVU advanced to its second-straight NCAA Tournament as a five-seed and faced host No. 12 New Mexico in Albuquerque, N.M., in first round action. Thanks to Cole's 22 points and 11 rebounds, the Mountaineers squeaked out a 61-60 victory in front of 9,633 partisan fans in one of the nation's most hostile venues. The win gave West Virginia its second-straight NCAA second-round appearance.

In 2008-09, and under arguably Carey's best coaching job, the Mountaineers posted 18 wins with just seven healthy players as a rash of early season injuries depleted WVU's reserves. Senior Takisha Granberry set a new single-season record with 94 3-pointers made while the duo of Granberry and sophomore Liz Repella became just the second set of teammates to each score 500 points in the same season. Repella became just the fourth Mountaineer in school history to record 500 points and 250 rebounds in the same season while classmate Sarah Miles earned BIG EAST Most Improved Player accolades. WVU also won at No. 5 and national runner-up Louisville, marking the highest-ranked road victory in school history.

Without any seniors, the 2009-10 team exceeded all expectations as the squad was predicted to finish ninth in the preseason BIG EAST Coaches'

Poll, but the Mountaineers won a school record 29 games, a program-best 13 BIG EAST contests, finished second in the regular-season league standings and in the tournament, reeled off 16 consecutive wins during the season, the longest since 1992, and had a program-best eight BIG EAST award winners. WVU reached as high as No. 7 in both major polls, and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament for the third time in four years. WVU posted a perfect 17-0 mark at the Coliseum, marking the most home wins in school history and the second undefeated season. Sarah Miles garnered the BIG EAST's Defensive Player of the Year award and earned all-league second team and all-tournament team honors. Liz Repella became the program's second first team Academic All-American and garnered all-BIG EAST first team, all-league tournament and Preseason WNIT all-tournament team honors. Freshman center Asya Bussie garnered unanimous all-BIG EAST freshman team honors, junior transfer Korinne Campbell earned all-league honorable mention honors and Carey earned Co-Coach of the Year accolades.

The Mountaineers experienced success from the start of the 2010-11 season as WVU earned its highest-ever preseason ranking in the Associated Press poll at No. 11 with seniors Repella and Miles earning BIG EAST preseason honors.

The season opened on a 19-0 win streak, the best start to a season in program history, and the Mountaineers moved up to the highest-ever ranking in program history at No. 6 in the polls, staying there for four-straight weeks. Within its undefeated start, WVU defeated No. 21 TCU, Virginia and No. 19 Iowa State on the way to becoming Paradise Jam Island Division Champions. Senior co-captains Repella and Madina Ali were named to the all-tournament team, while Repella also earned MVP honors.

Driven by Carey's motivation for defensive play, the Mountaineers' scoring defense ranked No. 1 nationally for five-straight weeks and stayed within the top-10 nationwide for the entire season. WVU was led by five seniors, who amassed the most wins in two seasons in program history with a 53-15 mark. Carey recorded his 200th win as head coach at WVU on Feb. 19, 2011 as the Mountaineers tallied their highest point total of the season with a 90-79 win at Pitt.

WVU recorded its sixth 20-win season in the last eight years, made its fifth NCAA appearance in eight seasons and its fourth NCAA Second Round appearance in the last five seasons.

Ali was named to the All-BIG EAST second team, while Repella earned first team honors for the second consecutive season. Repella was named a Capital One Academic All-America first team member in back-to-back seasons and was named to the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award All-America second team as a finalist for the award.

With 50 percent of its games on television and nine games nationally-televised, including ESPN2's Big Monday, WVU experienced some of its greatest crowds in program history. Six crowds ranked in the top 20 all-time largest crowds at the WVU Coliseum, helping the Mountaineers to a school record for total (49,648) and average (3,103) home attendance; ranking 35th of all NCAA Division I programs and recording the fifth-largest per game increase nationally from the previous season.

In 2011-12, Carey coached a Mountaineer squad returning only one senior and one starter from the previous season to its third consecutive NCAA tournament and fourth in the last five seasons. Predicted to finish ninth in the BIG EAST Preseason Coaches' Poll, the Mountaineers exceeded expectations finishing in a tie for fourth place and earning a bye in the BIG EAST Championship. WVU's scoring defense ranked in the top 10 nationally all season, closing out the year at No. 6, and held 23 opponents to under 60 points. WVU defeated 17 opponents by a double-figure margin and out-rebounded 28 opponents, including 13 BIG EAST teams in the regular season.

For the first time in program history, WVU defeated three-straight top 25 teams, including the highest ranked opponent in program history as the Mountaineers took a 65-63 victory from No. 2 Notre Dame in front of a sold out crowd on national television. The win was WVU's first ever in Notre Dame, Ind. Carey saw three players earn all-conference honors as junior Asya Bussie, the 15th player in WVU history to reach 1,000 points and 500 rebounds, was named first team All-BIG EAST, sophomore Christal Caldwell earned All-BIG EAST honorable mention and Linda Stepney was named to the All-BIG EAST freshman team.

In the last nine years, under Carey's direction, WVU has advanced to the NCAA tournament second round (2006-07, 2007-08, 2009-10, 2010-11, 2011-12), the NCAA tournament (2003-04), the WNIT championship game (2004-05), the BIG EAST tournament finals (2005-06, 2009-10)and the second round of the WNIT (2008-09). The team has also posted seven 21-win seasons during that time.

Certainly, success and respect have found their way to the Mountaineer women's basketball program.

The 2013-14 season was a season with many firsts. WVU recorded its most wins in program history with a 30-5 overall record, made its fifth consecutive NCAA appearance with a No. 2 seed—the highest in program history, recorded its highest ranking to date in program history at No. 5 in the Associated Press poll and recorded wins over five top-25 teams, including four in the top 15. A team led by five seniors, the West Virginia won a share of its first Big 12 regular season title with a 67-60 win over Kansas on March 4, 2014.

Mountaineers broke a program scoring record set in 1981 with 2,581 total points.

In only his second season in the Big 12 Conference, coach Mike Carey led the Mountaineers to a Big 12 Regular-Season Championship title, finishing with a 16-2 league record and sharing the top of the league standings with Baylor. Carey was named Big 12 Coach of the Year as the Mountaineers captured a conference regular-season title for the first time since winning the Atlantic 10 title in 1992.

With the loss of five core seniors, the 2014-15 Mountaineers had many ups-and-downs before reaching the WNIT Championship title game. The Mountaineers (23-15, 7-11 Big 12) pushed its home court win streak to 16 games. West Virginia's 19 home victories were the most in program history and tied for the nation lead. Junior guard Bria Holmes shattered WVU's junior scoring record with 716 points, just 14 shy of the program's single-season mark of 730 set by Rosemary Kosiorek in 1992. Holmes again was honored with unanimous All-Big 12 First Team accolades. Senior Averee Fields followed with 524 points, while Lanay Montgomery broke a WVU sophomore record with her 124 blocks. WVU reeled off a school-record five consecutive postseason victories before falling 62-60 to UCLA in the WNIT Championship game at the Charleston Civic Center in Charleston, West Virginia.

West Virginia entered the 2015-16 season as the sixth-youngest team nationally by scholarship percentage. Coach Carey's Mountaineers posted a 25-10 overall mark and finished third in the Big 12 with a 12-6 record. West Virginia reached the NCAA Tournament for the 11th time overall and the 10th consecutive postseason appearance. WVU won a NCAA statistical award by boasting 6.5 blocked shots per game. The Mountaineers were led by All-Big 12 First Team performer Bria Holmes, who averaged 16.8 points, 4.1 rebounds and 3.7 assists per game. Holmes garnered Senior CLASS Award All-America Second Team accolades and was named All-America Honorable Mention by the Associated Press and the Women's Basketball Coaches Association. In April 2016, Holmes became the program's highest draft pick with her 11th overall selection by the Atlanta Dream in the WNBA Draft. Freshman Tynice Martin was named the Big 12's Freshman of the Year after averaging 10.3 points and 3.2 rebounds per game. Junior center Lanay Montgomery continued to anchor the Mountaineer defense with her 97 blocks and 8.1 rebounds, garnering All-Big 12 Second Team honors and Big 12 All-Defensive Team accolades. Senior Arielle Roberson picked up All-Big 12 Honorable Mention after boasting 7.5 rebounds and 4.4 points per game. West Virginia advanced to the NCAA Second Round for the first time since 2014 after picking up a 74-65 win over Princeton.

The 2016-17 Mountaineers saw an up-and-down season that culminated with the program's first Big 12 Conference Tournament title and the first tournament title at WVU since 1989. The sixth-seeded Mountaineers pulled off three top-25 upsets with wins over No. 3-seed and No. 19-ranked Oklahoma (82-58), No. 2-seed and No. 12/14 Texas (62-59) and top-seeded and No. 2-ranked Baylor (77-66). Tynice Martin scored 82 points and tallied a Big 12 title game record 32 points in WVU's miraculous victory, marking only the second time in Big 12 history that a six seed had claimed the title. Martin, an All-Big 12 First Team selection, would earn Most Outstanding Player honors and become the first Mountaineer sophomore to garner All-America Honorable Mention from both the Associated Press and the Women's Basketball Coaches Association. Teana Muldrow would earn Big 12 All-Tournament Team Honors, as well as All-Big 12 Honorable Mention. Senior Lanay Montgomery finished her illustrious career with a school record 59.7 field goal percentage, earning All-Big 12 Defensive Team honors and All-Big 12 Honorable Mention. Montgomery was selected in the third round and 30th overall by the Seattle Storm in the 2017 WNBA Draft. The Mountaineers made their 12th NCAA Tournament appearance and 10th under coach Mike Carey. WVU advanced to the NCAA Second Round for the 10th time in program history with a 75-62 win over Elon.

Adversity was the name of the game for the 2017-18 Mountaineers, who were dealt a trio of blows prior to tipoff. Big 12 Championship MVP Tynice Martin was injured during a Team U.S.A. camp and was forced to miss the season in its entirety. Key reserve Anja Martin also suffered a preseason injury that would end her career, and guard Kysre Gondrezick had to sit out after transferring from Michigan. Center Theresa Ekhelar became eligible for the second semester, right around the time senior forward starter Kristina King suffered a foot injury that forced her to miss five games. Despite having eight players dressed for most of the season, the Mountaineers were able to put together a 25-win season and a run into the 2018 Postseason WNIT. Rivalry wins came over Virginia Tech and Pitt, while the team's signature win of the season came at Texas A&M as part of the Big 12/SEC Challenge. Forward Teana Muldrow put on a stellar senior campaign, placing herself in the all-time record books for scoring, rebounding and blocked shots and earning All-Big 12 First Team accolades and AP All-America Honorable Mention. Muldrow capped her career by becoming the program's all-time leader in games played, and became the third straight Mountaineer drafted when she was selected 29th overall by the Seattle Storm in the 2018 WNBA Draft. Junior college transfer Naomi Davenport made her make at WVU, earning Big 12 All-Second Team honors while senior guard Chania Ray finished out her stellar career by moving into the all-time record books for career assists and assists per game and earning All-Big 12 Honorable Mention.

It was a year of change for the Mountaineers in the 2018-19 season, as they entered the season opener against Coppin State with a starting lineup that consisted of two returning starters, a veteran that was new to the starting lineup, a standout starter returning from injury and a freshman making her career debut. Senior forward Naomi Davenport dazzled to start the season, registering 13 points, 13 rebounds and 10 assists to become just the fifth Mountaineer in program history to record a triple-double. Freshman point guard Madisen Smith quickly found her stride, earning a trio of Big 12 Freshman of the Week accolades. However, adversity struck for the second year in a row as senior guard Katrina Pardee went down with an ankle injury in mid-January that forced her to sit until the end of February. Redshirt junior guard Tynice Martin, just one year removed from a devastating foot injury, picked up right where she left off. In January, she set a program record with 16 first quarter points, dropping 17 in all to lead WVU to an upset of No. 12 Texas - WVU's first-ever win over the Longhorns in Austin. Freshman forward Kari Niblack developed into a key reserve, winning the hearts of Mountaineer nation with her passionate play. Her stats - including five double-doubles on the year - won the respect of the league's coaches, who voted her the 2019 Big 12 Sixth Man of the Year. Smith earned a nod on the Big 12 All-Freshmen Team, while Martin and Davenport each earned 2019 All-Big 12 First Team honors. Martin, who WBCA All-Region 3 honoree, also received WBCA All-America Honorable Mention for the second time in her career.

In 2019-20, West Virginia welcomed several new faces to the new to complement an experienced core of returners, including Tynice Martin, who would look to cap a historic career in storybook fashion. The Mountaineers couldn't have asked for a better start, as the team strung together 10 wins over its first 11 games, including an upset win over the defending Southeastern Conference Champion No. 10 Mississippi State in Starkville. Mike Carey also earned his 400th career victory at WVU during that streak against Norfolk State. After dominating their nonconference slate, the Mountaineers faced some challenges in Big 12 Conference play and would finish sixth in the regular-season standings. At the end of the regular season, six Mountaineers were named to the Academic All-Big 12 Teams, which included five first-team selections. Martin represented West Virginia on the 2020 All-Big 12 Team as a second-team honoree, while Kysre Gondrezick and Niblack earned honorable mention status. West Virginia then packed its bags and traveled to Kansas City, Missouri, to face off against No. 3-seed Texas in the opening round of the 2020 Phillips 66 Big 12 Women's Basketball Tournament. However, the COVID-19 pandemic struck the world of sports abruptly to force the cancellation of the tournament and end WVU's season. Martin finished her illustrious Mountaineer career with 1,980 career points, good for No. 5 on the all-time scoring list.

PLAYING THROUGH A PANDEMIC 2020-2021

After the WVU women's basketball team returned to Morgantown in March 2020 following the NCAA's cancellation of all 2020 postseason events, the Mountaineers found themselves at home and with more questions about the COVID-19 pandemic than answers.

For the next four months, the women's basketball team was held off the court in accordance with the nationwide "stay at home" order and local health & safety regulations, which forced several student-athletes to find their own ways to practice and prepare for whatever came next.

WVU women's basketball ultimately returned to the basketball practice facility in mid-July 2020 and continued to wait and see what the near future would look like for college basketball and playing through a global pandemic. After two more months, the NCAA finally announced on Sept. 16, 2020, that teams could begin the 2020-21 campaign on Nov. 25. College hoops would press on through the challenges presented by COVID-19.

After being selected to finish fifth in the Big 12 Conference preseason poll, WVU began the 2020-21 campaign at the South Point Thanksgiving Shootout in Las Vegas, Nevada. After grabbing a season-opening win against Fresno State, the Mountaineers bagged a 20-point victory over LSU to help Coach Carey earn his 700th career victory.

West Virginia then returned to Morgantown and grabbed a pair of wins against North Alabama and national powerhouse Tennessee in the Big 12/SEC Challenge. The Mountaineers split their next four contests against No. 7 Baylor, James Madison, Oklahoma State and Ohio before hitting their first, major roadblock of the season.

Three of the next four games for WVU were canceled due to their opponents' COVID-19 health and safety protocols. On Dec. 22, the Coppin State game was canceled due to a two-week pause in the Eagles' program, then to begin 2021, both the Kansas and Kansas State road matchups were postponed to later in the season.

After a hectic week of cancelations and rescheduled contests, the Mountaineers headed to Norman, Oklahoma, on Jan. 3, to square off against the Sooners in the new year. Led by a pair of 20-point games from guards Kysre Gondrezick and Kirsten Deans, WVU picked up its first Big 12 win of the season.

West Virginia's next game proved to be one of its biggest victories of the year, as WVU welcomed No. 17-ranked Texas to the Coliseum on Jan. 9. Behind four double-figure scoring performances, including a 24-point effort from Gondrezick, the Mountaineers rolled the Longhorns, 92-58, to secure the largest margin of victory over a ranked opponent in program history.

Carey and his Mountaineers went on to win their next eight games to tally an 11-game win streak, the best run by a WVU team since the 2018-19 season.

Following a 72-71 upset by Oklahoma, West Virginia was scheduled to travel to Waco, Texas, for its rematch against Baylor on Feb. 17. However, a violent winter storm put Texas in a state of emergency and prompted the teams to reschedule the game for the regular-season finale.

On Feb. 20, Carey and WVU played host to TCU for senior day, as Gondrezick was honored prior to tip-off. West Virginia's matchup against the Horned Frogs ended up being the final home contest of the season, as the team finished the final nine games - including four true road games - of the 2020-21 campaign away from home. The Mountaineers had not played four consecutive true road games since the 2007-08 season and had not played four consecutive road games in conference play since the 1990-91 season.

A year after the COVID-19 pandemic put a wrap on the 2020 Big 12 Championship, West Virginia returned to Kansas City as the No. 2 seed in the 2021 tournament, its highest seeding since 2014. In the opening round against No. 10-seed Kansas State, Deans provided one of the all-time great moments in program history in the closing seconds of the contest.

Down by seven with a minute remaining, the Mountaineers retained possession on a jump ball with 30 before Deans came up big and tied the game with a step-back, 3-pointer with 19 seconds to go. On the ensuing inbound play from the opposite end of the court, KSU guard Emilee Ebert's pass was tipped by center Blessing Ejiofor and Deans came up with the steal. The sophomore guard then drove the full length of the court, being closely defended the entire way, and converted the go-ahead score at the buzzer to help WVU secure the comeback win.

West Virginia then went on to defeat No. 3-seed Oklahoma State, 59-50, in the semifinals to advance to the championship game against No. 1-seed Baylor for the first time since 2017, when WVU won the conference tournament title.

The Mountaineers would end up making their return to the NCAA Tournament in 2021, after being selected as a No. 4 seed in the annual event. Playing in a regulated, bubble setting in San Antonio, Texas, WVU opened tournament action with a 77-53 victory over No. 13-seed Lehigh to advance to the round of 32 against No. 5-seed Georgia Tech. WVU would fall to the Yellow Jackets two days later to conclude the unusual, 2020-21 season.

2021-2023: CHANGING TIMES

Following the 2021-22 season, Mike Carey, the winningest coach in program history, announced his retirement on March 16, 2022, after 21 years leading the Mountaineer program.

During his tenure, Carey guided the Mountaineers to 11 NCAA Tournaments, five WNIT appearances and a program-record 13 straight postseason appearances from 2007-19. Carey's teams advanced to the NCAA second round on 10 occasions and reached the WNIT championship game twice.

He was named Big East Conference Coach of the Year in 2004 after posting a 21-11 overall record with a 10-6 league mark, and again in 2010 after a 29-6 season and a 13-3 Big East record. Carey garnered Big 12 Conference Coach of the Year honors in 2014, when he guided the Mountaineers to a school-record 30-5 season and a 16-2 conference record. He finished with a 447-239 record at WVU and a 735-341 record in 34 seasons of coaching.

Two weeks later, a new era of Mountaineer women's basketball began, as West Virginia University introduced Dawn Plitzuweit as the school's six women's basketball coach on March 31, 2022. Only coaching one season, Plitzuweit led WVU to the program's 14th NCAA Tournament appearance and a 19-12 overall record.

The Mountaineers took on No. 4 Iowa and Caitlin Clark in front of 14,323 fans, the third-largest crowd to watch the Mountaineers. The 2024 NCAA Tournament second-round game in Iowa City averaged 4.90 million viewers on ESPN, making it the largest TV audience for the NCAA Women's Basketball Tournament for any game played before the Final Four. The game peaked at 6.4 million viewers.

JJ Quinerly is one of the most decorated players in program history as a two-time AP All-American and the programs 11th WNBA Draft pick in 2025.

2023-PRESENT THE KELLOGG ERA BEGINS

Following the 2023 season, West Virginia University Director of Athletics and Associate Vice President Wren Baker introduced Mark Kellogg as the program's seventh head coach on April 3, 2023. Kellogg came to WVU as the sixth-winningest active DI head coach in the country with a mark of 445-120 and a .788 winning percentage across 18 seasons.

In his first season with West Virginia, Kellogg compiled 25 wins, marking the most ever by a first-year coach in program history. He guided the Mountaineers to a fourth-place finish in the Big 12 regular season and West Virginia's 15th all-time bid into the NCAA Tournament, reaching the second round. WVU was ranked in the AP poll 10 times, including finishing the season as the 24th-ranked team in the country.

JJ Quinerly headlined the Mountaineers efforts in Kellogg's first season. The Norfolk, Virginia native earned national recognition, being named an Ann Meyers Drysdale Shooting Guard of the Year Finalist, a Naismith Defensive Player of the Year Semifinalist Player and to the WBCA Player of the Year Watchlist. She also collected Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year honors and earned first and defensive team all-conference honors.

The Mountaineers final game of the season came with record NCAA Tournament viewership numbers. In an upset attempt against No. 4 Iowa and Caitlin Clark, the Mountaineers played in front of 14,323 fans, the third most to watch the Mountaineers. According to Sports Media Watch, the second-round game in Iowa City averaged 4.90 million viewers on ESPN making it the largest TV audience for the NCAA Women's Basketball Tournament for any game played before the Final Four. The game peaked at 6.4 million viewers. The WVU-Iowa game more than doubled the average viewership for every other second-round game that season with the next best viewership average at 2.1 million.

In head coach Mark Kellogg's second season, the West Virginia Mountaineers posted a strong 25–8 overall record and 13–5 in Big 12 play, finishing in a tie for fourth place in the conference. Kellogg's 50 wins over two seasons are the most by a first-year head coach and the third most over two seasons in program history.

Known for their tenacious defense and fast-paced offense, WVU ranked among the nation's best in scoring defense and turnover margin. The Mountaineers showcased a balanced and aggressive style of play, averaging 75.9 points per game while holding its opponents to just 55.6 points, ranking 15th national in scoring defense. WVU finished the season with a +651-scoring differential and forced 22.1 turnover per game to rank sixth nationally in that category.

The Mountaineers advanced to the NCAA Tournament, as a six seed, for the third straight season, advancing to the second round after defeating Columbia before falling to North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

JJ Quinerly became the 11th player in program history drafted into the WNBA when the season concluded. She was drafted by the Dallas Wings. She was named the Big 12 Conference defensive player of the year, for the second straight season, joining the likes of Brittney Griner and Courtney Paris as the conferences only multiple time winners.

WVU WOMEN'S BASKETBALL FIRSTS

- Coach: Kittie Blakemore became the first head coach of the WVU women's basketball program in 1973.
- Season: The 1973-74 team was the first women's basketball team at West Virginia.
- Scholarship: In 1980, Cathy Parson was the first woman to earn a scholarship in athletics at WVU, she is WVU's all-time scoring leader with 2,115 points, and became WVU's first women's player to have her jersey retired and first woman to be inducted into the WVU Sports Hall of Fame (in 1996).
- All-Conference Honoree: In 1983, Olivia Bradley became WVU's first-ever all-conference honoree as she was named to the 1983 All-Atlantic 10 second team. She earned first team accolades the following year, the first player to do so in WVU women's basketball history.
- First Women's Basketball Player to Ever Dunk in a Game: Georgeann Wells earned national attention in 1984 as she became the first women's basketball player to ever dunk in a game.
- Postseason Tournament: WVU returned all five starters from the 1984 campaign and posted a 20-10 record, while qualifying for its first-ever postseason tournament - the 1985 WNIT.
- NCAA Tournament Appearance: WVU posted a 24-8 season and won its first Atlantic 10 Championship in 1989, advancing to its first-ever NCAA Tournament.
- All-American: In 1992, Rosemary Kosiorek became WVU's first Kodak All-American and was a finalist for the Francis Pomeroy Naismith Player of the Year award, in addition to earning her second-consecutive CoSIDA Academic All-American honor, the first player in program history to do so.
- NCAA Sweet 16 Berth: In 1992, WVU finished the season with the then-most wins in school history (26) and its first-ever berth into the NCAA Sweet 16.
- Undefeated Season At Home: WVU went 14-0 at home in the 1992 season for the first undefeated season at home. The 2009-10 team was the second to have an unblemished home schedule as it recorded the most wins at the Coliseum in a single season with a 17-0 record.
- Multiple Players with 1,000-Point Season: Maria Tchobanova, Christie Lambert, Rebecca Burbridge and Ilse Opstaele each reached the 1,000-point milestone in the 1998-99 season, becoming WVU's first team to have multiple players do so in the same year.
- Player Drafted by WNBA: Senior guard Kate Bulger became the first WVU player drafted in the WNBA as she went as the final pick (No. 38) in the third round to the Minnesota Lynx in 2004.
- Back-to-Back 20-Win Seasons: In his fourth season at the helm of the program, Mike Carey guided WVU to its second-consecutive 20-win season with a 21-13 mark and a postseason appearance in the 2005 WNIT championship game. It marked the first time in school history that WVU posted back-to-back 20-win seasons and back-to-back postseason berths.
- Player to Make a WNBA Roster: Yolanda Paige became the first women's basketball player out of WVU to make a WNBA roster as she was drafted by the Indiana Fever in the second round of the 2005 WNBA Draft with the 16th overall pick.
- First Team All-Conference Selection: In 2005, Meg Bulger became West Virginia's first-ever All-BIG EAST First Team selection and it was a unanimous decision.
- Ranked in the Top 25 for the Entire Season: The largest senior class in school history (7) guided WVU to the then second-most wins in school history (25), including a school-record-tying three victories over Top 25 teams in 2008. The team also began and concluded the season ranked in the Top 25 of both major polls for the first time in program history.
- Cracked the Top 10 in Major Polls: In 2010, WVU came in at No. 8 in the ESPN/USA Today Top 25 poll, marking the first time in school history that the Mountaineers were ranked in the Top 10. WVU went on to rank as high as No. 7 in both major polls.
- Defeated Three-Straight Top 25 Teams: The 2011-12 squad knocked off three consecutive top 25 teams for the first time in program history. The Mountaineers defeated No. 13 Louisville 66-50 at home. WVU went on to snap a 21-game win streak at No. 2 Notre Dame in front of a sold out crowd on national television, marking the highest-ranked opponent WVU has defeated in program history. It was Notre Dame's only loss at home and only BIG EAST regular-season loss of the year. WVU returned home to take a 60-50 win from No. 21 Rutgers.
- Reaching 30: WVU recorded a program single-season record 30 victories during the 2013-14 campaign. The Mountaineers knocked off Albany, 76-61, in the first round of the NCAA Tournament to collect a new program-record 30th victory.
- First Big 12 Title: In just its second year in the league, West Virginia reeled off a 16-2 record to clinch a share of the Big 12 Conference title in 2013-14. The Mountaineers would advance to the Big 12 Championship title game, falling short to Baylor.
- First Time to Reach Postseason 10 Consecutive Years: West Virginia has reached the postseason the last 10 seasons dating back to a NCAA Tournament berth in 2007.
- First Big 12 Freshman of the Year: Tynice Martin was named the 2016 Big 12 Freshman of the Year becoming the first Mountaineer to garner a major postseason award since joining the league. Martin, who averaged 10.3 points and 3.2 rebounds per game, was also named a finalist for the United States Basketball Writers Association (USBWA) National Freshman of the Year.
- Highest Draft Pick: Bria Holmes became the program's highest draft pick with her 11th overall selection by the Atlanta Dream in the first round of the 2016 WNBA Draft. Holmes finished third all-time at West Virginia with 2,001 career points.
- First Big 12 Tournament Title: Sixth-seeded West Virginia reeled of three unexpected victories with wins over No. 3 Oklahoma, No. 2 Texas and regular-season champion Baylor in Oklahoma City to claim the school's first Big 12 Tournament championship in 2017.

MOUNTAINEER GREATS

ROSEMARY KOSIOREK

LETTERED: 1989-90C-91C-92C
#4, 5-5, GUARD
BALTIMORE, MD.

A diminutive point guard from Baltimore, Maryland, Rosemary Kosiorek was West Virginia's most decorated women's basketball player ever, leading the Mountaineers to a 26-4 record and a No. 11 national ranking in 1992.

A four-year contributor, the Mountaineers were upset winners of the Atlantic 10 tournament Kosiorek's freshman year, advancing to the NCAA tournament for the first time. As a junior, she became the first player to lead the Atlantic 10 in both scoring (20.2) and assists (6.2), earning honorable mention All-America honors.

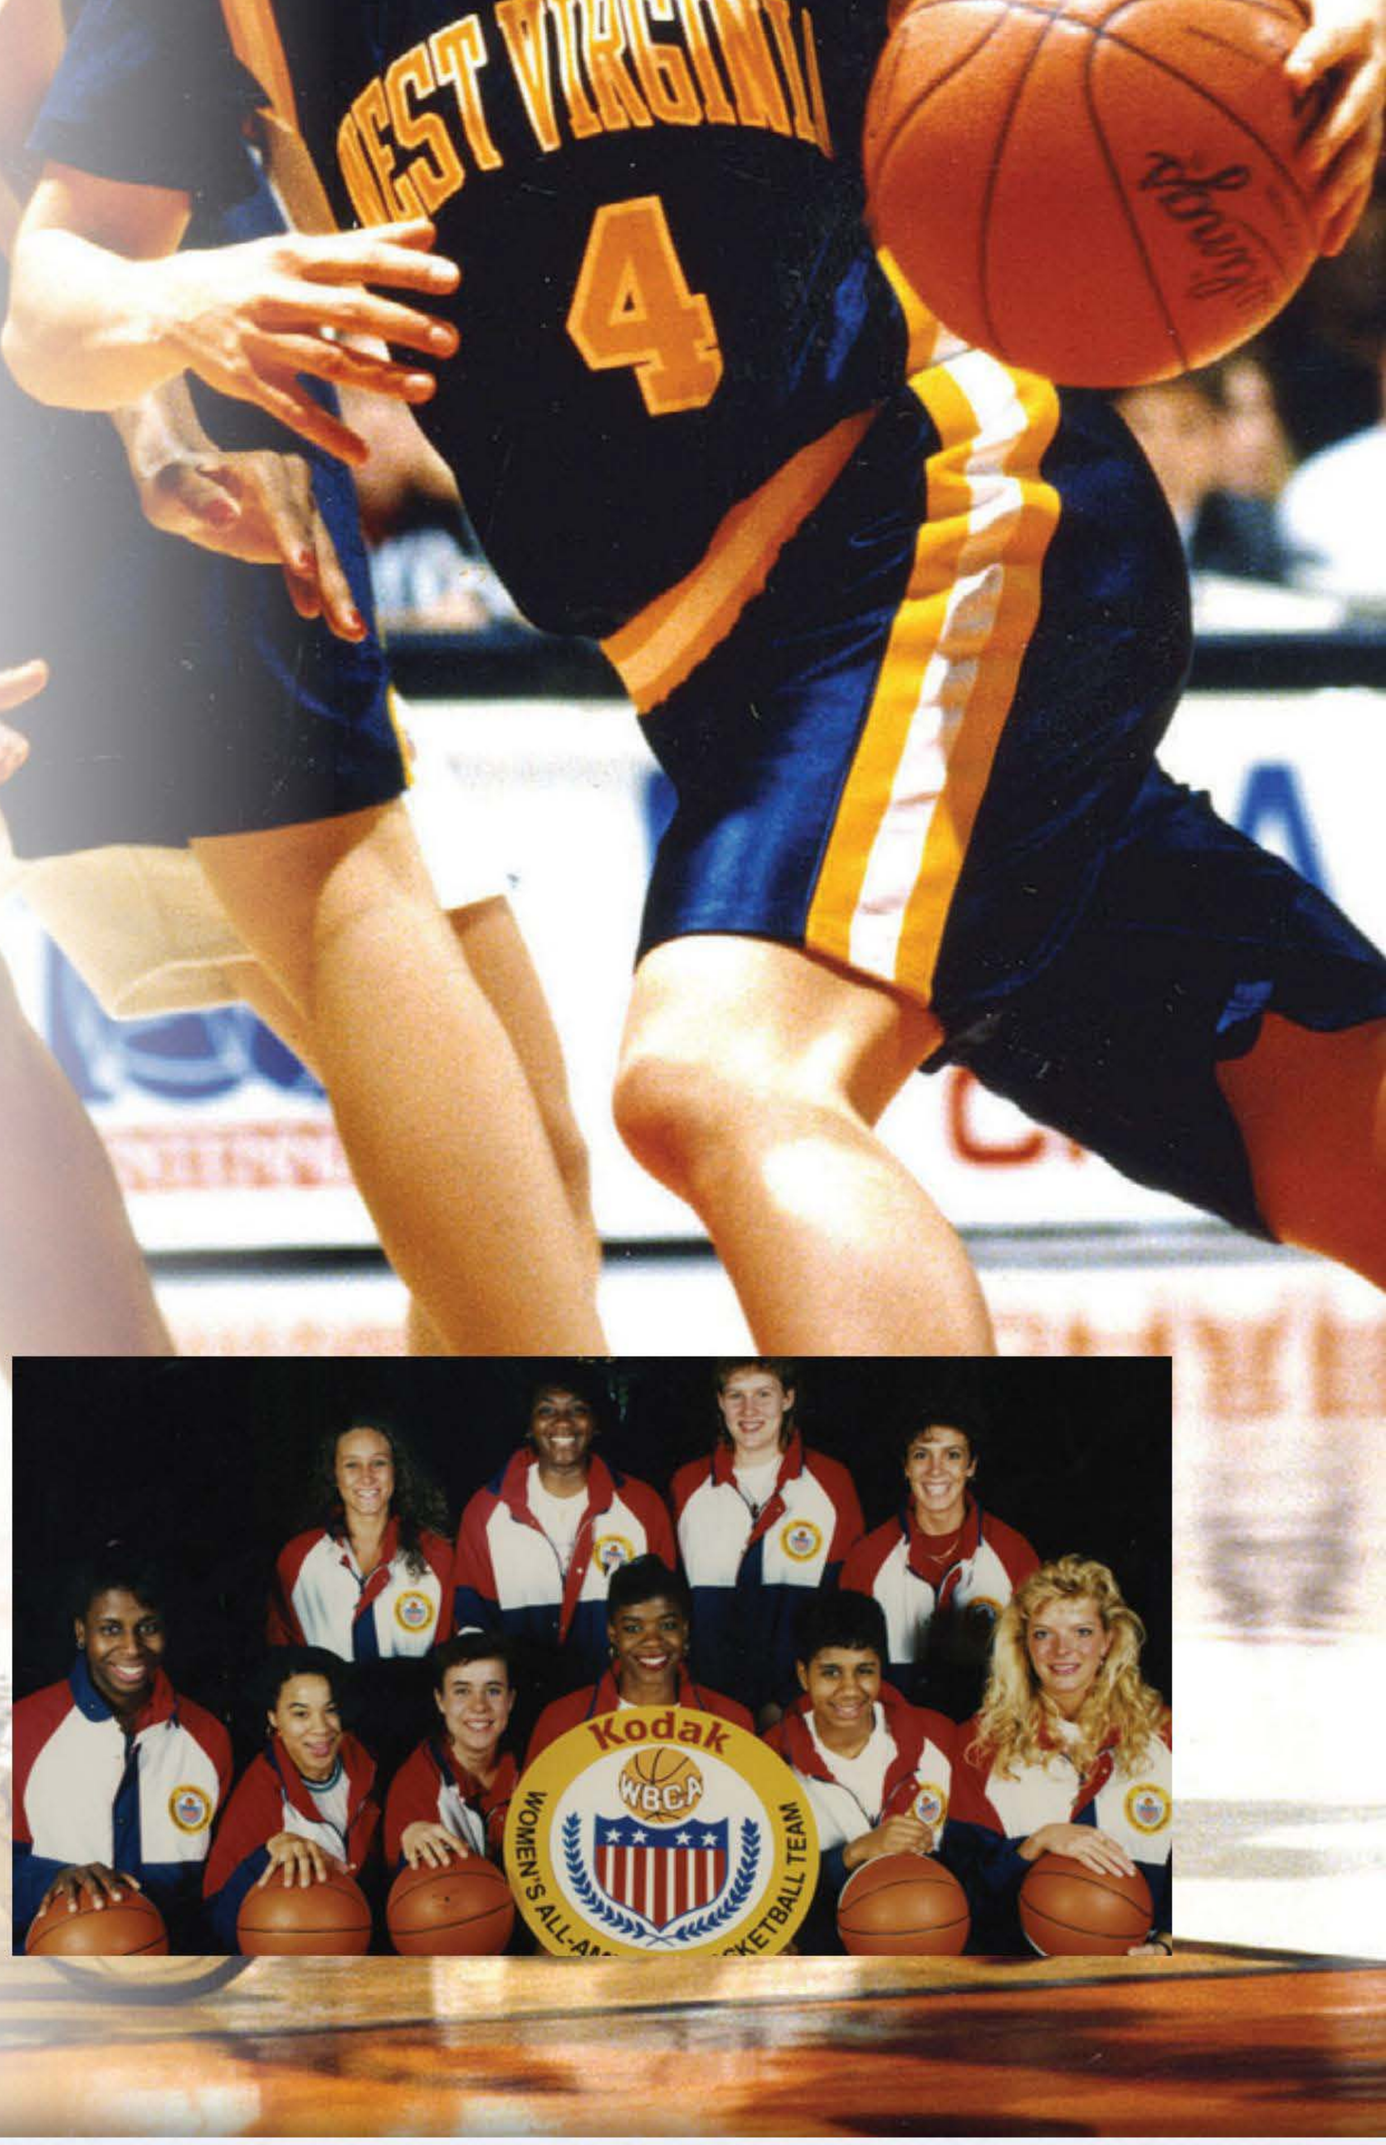
There was nothing she couldn't do. She could shoot, she could pass, she could dribble past anyone and she could score. She held the record for most points scored in a single game (37 vs. Marshall) from 1992-98 and set the record for assists in a game (15 vs. Duquesne, 1992).

As a senior, she was unstoppable, leading WVU to a 22-game winning streak, the A-10 regular-season title and a 25-3 regular-season record, as she averaged 24.3 points and a school record 6.8 assists per game. Her 1,136 points scored that season were almost half of WVU's total output; for her career, she had 2,061 points and 725 assists. In addition, Kosiorek racked up 43 20-point games during her career.

At the end of that 1992 season, the Mountaineers received a No. 4 seed in the NCAA tournament, hosting Clemson in what would be a 71-70 win before 8,000 fans at the Coliseum. WVU advanced to the Sweet 16 before losing at powerhouse Virginia.

A Kodak All-American and a finalist for the Margaret Wade Trophy (given to the college player of the year), Kosiorek received the Frances Pomeroy Naismith Award from the Basketball Hall of Fame as the nation's best player under 5-5. A three-time All-Atlantic 10 pick, she was the 1992 Atlantic 10 player of the year and WVU's MVP and team captain. A first team Academic All-American, Kosiorek graduated with honors in accounting from WVU in 1992.

Kosiorek was invited to try out for the U.S. Olympic Team and the WNBA. She was named to the West Virginia University Sports Hall of Fame in 2003.



MOUNTAINEER GREATS

CATHY PARSON

LETTERED: 1980-81-82-83C
#21, 5-7, GUARD
HAGERSTOWN, MD.

A brilliant guard from Hagerstown, Maryland, Cathy Parson is WVU women's basketball career scoring leader. Tallying 2,115 points during her four year career (1980-83), Parson appeared in a then-school record 121 career games and averaged 17.5 points per game.

Her career scoring total is even more impressive when considering Jerry West (2,309) and Rod Hundley (2,180) are the only WVU basketball players, male or female, to have scored more points. She is also the women's all-time leader in career field goals made (899) and attempted (2,072). Of her 121 games played, Parson registered double figures 108 times.

A three-time Mountaineer MVP, the 5-7 Parson was the first women's player to have her jersey retired. She was a three-time all-BIG EAST selection, an honorable mention AIAW All-America in 1982 and a third team AIAW All-America selection in 1983. After graduation, Parson was one of 20 players selected to try out for a spot with the Harlem Globetrotters. She also played a season for the Virginia Wave of the Women's American Basketball Association.

Parson later spent three years as an assistant coach at Providence College and in 1988 accepted the head job at Christopher Newport University in Newport News, Va. While at Newport, she won two Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Coach of the Year awards and coached Kodak All-American Karen Barefoot, the only player in NCAA history to score 2,000 points and record 1,000 assists. She also took Newport to three Division III tournaments and made the Sweet 16 in 1992.

Parson was head coach of the WNBA's Washington Mystics for one season in 1998 and served eight seasons as head coach for Howard from 2000-08.

GEORGEANN WELLS

LETTERED: 19 83-84-85-86C
#11, 6-7, CENTER
COLUMBUS, OHIO

In 1983, the talk in Morgantown centered around a 6-foot-7 center who could dunk. The folks weren't talking about men's basketball's newest recruit; they were excited about Georgeann Wells.

Wells came to WVU as a heavily recruited prep star from Northland High in Columbus, Ohio. After a short time adjusting, she averaged 11.9 points per game as a freshman. Wells went on to score 1,484 points, pull down 1,075 rebounds and block 436 shots from 1983-86, all remarkable accomplishments. But to most, the points, the rebounds and the blocks were all just window dressing. Wells could dunk, and dunk hard!

She made history against Charleston on December 21, 1984, at Elkins' Randolph County Armory during the Mountaineer Christmas Classic. With 11:18 remaining in the game and West Virginia comfortably ahead, Wells took a full-court pass from Lisa Ribble and soared to the basket with a one-handed stuff. The dunk instantly made her a national celebrity. Network television, Sports Illustrated, an NCAA luncheon in New York, a display in the Naismith Basketball Hall of Fame, the Women's College Basketball Hall of Fame and induction into Houston's Phi Slamma Jama dunking fraternity were just a few of the highlights of one of the school's most memorable moments. Unmatched until 1994, the feat is still one of the sport's most talked-about accomplishments.

She was inducted into WVU's Sports Hall of Fame in the Fall of 2007, and the long lost footage of her dunk was found in the spring of 2009 via investigative reporting by the Wall Street Journal.

WVU PRESIDENT MICHAEL T. BENSON

@MICHAELTBENSON

Michael T. Benson, a veteran higher education administrator, became the 27th president of West Virginia University on July 15, 2025. He brings three decades of academic and administrative experience in higher education to his role leading West Virginia's flagship, land-grant, R1 institution into a new era.

WVU is Benson's fifth presidency. Prior to his arrival at Coastal Carolina in 2021, Benson led Snow College, Southern Utah University, and Eastern Kentucky University. During his tenure at Coastal Carolina, Benson secured a $10 million gift, the largest in the school's history. He worked closely with community partners and policymakers to advance initiatives there, including the successful renewal of a local option penny sales tax to support public and higher education through the year 2039, the only tax of its kind in all of South Carolina.

In 2024, under his leadership, Coastal Carolina enrolled its largest number of students ever - 11,225 - while also setting a record retention rate.

As the 14th president of Snow College in Ephraim, Utah, he helped raise more private money for the institution during his tenure than had been secured in the previous 115 years of the college's history combined.

Appointed at age 36, Benson was the youngest college president in the history of the Utah System of Higher Education.

Benson has also held faculty appointments at the University of Utah, the University of Notre Dame, and Johns Hopkins University, and has taught at each institution where he served as president, including Coastal Carolina where he was a professor of history.

His scholarly work has focused on the development of the research university and its impact on society. Benson's book, "Daniel Coit Gilman and the Birth of the American Research University," was released by Johns Hopkins University Press in 2022. He was a visiting professor in the Department of the History of Science and Technology at Johns Hopkins in 2020. Benson's biography of Gilman was named to the list of Best Higher Education Books of 2023 by Forbes magazine.

Benson is also the author of "Harry S. Truman and the Founding of Israel," and, with co-author Hal Boyd, published "College for the Commonwealth: A Case for Higher Education in American Democracy" with the University Press of Kentucky.

Nationally, Benson serves on the Council of Presidents of the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges. He also is the past board chair of Omicron Delta Kappa, the national leadership honor society and is the former chair of the NCAA Honors Committee.

Benson is sought after for public speeches and appearances. He was a featured contributor to the Huffington Post for 5 years; has written articles for The Jerusalem Post, Lexington Herald-Leader, Louisville Courier Journal, The Kansas City Star, Deseret News, and The Salt Lake Tribune, among others; and appeared on ESPN's The Paul Finebaum Show.

Born in Utah and raised in Texas and Indiana, Benson has worked and studied abroad for nearly 7 years in Italy, England, and Israel. He graduated cum laude with a bachelor's degree in political science and double minors in English and history from Brigham Young University in 1990. He completed his doctorate in modern history from the University of Oxford (St. Antony's College) in 1995, where he was a Rotary Foundation Scholar and recipient of the Oxford Graduate Overseas Fellowship.

He also earned a master's degree cum laude in nonprofit administration in 2011 from the University of Notre Dame Mendoza College of Business, where he was the recipient of the prestigious Father Theodore Hesburgh Founder's Award. Benson graduated with a Master of Liberal Arts from Johns Hopkins University in August 2021 and was elected to the Honor Society of the Association of Graduate Liberal Studies Programs.

An accomplished athlete, President Benson played basketball at BYU and Oxford, and his best marathon time – 2 hours and 41 minutes – won his age division in the St. George (Utah) Marathon. He also finished among the top 25% of all runners in the 1984 Boston Marathon, one of only 19 teenagers from around the world to compete in the race.

An avid traveler, he has visited all 50 states and five of the seven continents.

He and his wife, Debi, are the parents of three children – Truman, Tatum, and Talmage. He also has two older children from a previous marriage. Emma is a TV reporter for KSL in Salt Lake City, Utah, and Samuel writes for Politico in Washington, D.C. Sam's wife, Keylla, is in her first year at Georgetown Law School.

WREN BAKER

THE BAKER FAMILY: REAGAN, ADDISYN, HEATHER AND WREN

Wren Baker has changed the face of West Virginia University Athletics. He has reenergized the department and set it up for long-term success in the ever-changing world of college athletics.

Whether it's coaching searches, facility master plans, revenue sharing or a modern, business-like approach to Name, Image and Likeness, Baker has faced every challenge head on and has never looked back. He has brought new thinking and confidence to WVU Athletics, and his reputation across the country is second-to-none.

Baker is a high-energy leader, and Mountaineer success has been contagious in competition and in the classroom. Conference championships, NCAA appearances and a national championship have been followed by strong academic achievement for Mountaineer student-athletes, eclipsing previous department GPA highs. Under Baker, WVU has also turned in record fundraising numbers as his forward thinking and strategic planning are geared to bringing future success and revenue stability to the state's Land-Grant Institution.

Baker was an instant hit with WVU fans. In his first year in Morgantown, he traveled the state to learn its culture, geography, and history. He has met and listened to Mountaineer fans from all over the world and immersed himself on what it means to be a proud West Virginian. The results of his approach and work ethic speak volumes as the West Virginia Mountaineers continue to be a national brand.

Despite accomplishing so much in a short period of time, Baker's plate is still full. Continued revenue generation, launching an NIL full-service business agency for student-athlete advancement and premium seating options in his two major sports venues are still on his radar for the coming year. His endless energy never stops moving WVU forward.

Then WVU President E. Gordon Gee named Baker as WVU's vice president and director of intercollegiate athletics on Nov. 30, 2022. He has oversight of 18 varsity sports, a department budget of more than $90 million, approximately 250 employees and nearly 500 student-athletes.

Baker is WVU's 13th director of athletics and came to Morgantown from the University of North Texas, where he had been the associate vice president and athletics director since 2016. With previous stops at Missouri, Memphis, Northwest Missouri and Rogers State, he brought more than 20 years of experience to WVU.

At North Texas, seven Mean Green programs combined to win 17 conference or division championships during Baker's tenure. UNT also reached new heights in the classroom under Baker's leadership, posting its top APR scores and four consecutive department Graduation Success Rate (GSR) records. Baker led record fundraising years at North Texas, and the overall top five largest gifts ever at UNT came under Baker's leadership.

Prior to North Texas, Baker was the deputy director of athletics at Missouri from 2015 to 2016, serving as the top advisor and chief of staff.

Before Missouri, he spent time at Memphis from 2013-15 as deputy athletics director.

From 2011-13, Baker was athletics director at NCAA Division II power Northwest Missouri State. From 2006-11, Baker served as the first athletics director at Rogers State in Claremore, Oklahoma, where he was also the school's first men's basketball coach. His team went 20-11 in his only season at the helm, and during his tenure, he developed a full-scale, competitive collegiate athletics program. In 2005, he was the principal and athletics director for Valliant Public Schools, and at age 26, was the youngest principal in Oklahoma history.

Originally from Valliant, Oklahoma, Baker earned his bachelor's degree in education from Southeastern Oklahoma State in 2001 where he was a member of the honors program. He went on to earn his master's degree in education leadership from Oklahoma State in 2003.

While at Oklahoma State, Baker was a graduate assistant and basketball operations assistant for the Cowboys' men's basketball program under legendary head coach Eddie Sutton. During his time with OSU, the Cowboys posted a 102-30 record, reaching four NCAA tournaments with trips to the 2004 Final Four and the 2005 Sweet 16.

Baker and his wife, Heather, a Bokchito, Oklahoma, native, have two daughters, Addisyn and Reagan.

WHAT TO KNOW WHEN COVERING WVU

MEDIA SERVICES

The West Virginia University athletic communications office will be available throughout the entire 2025-26 women's basketball season to accommodate any media requests. The following are some guidelines that should make it easy for media members to cover the West Virginia women's basketball team. Any additional questions should be directed to women's basketball contact/assistant director of athletic communications Chris Coombs.

CREDENTIALS

Season-long credentials to cover WVUmen's and women's basketball will be issued prior to the start of each season for media members who put in a request. Game-by-game credentials for WVU women's basketball should be requested no later than 24 hours prior to each scheduled home contest. Credentials requests should be directed to women's basketball contact/assistant director of athletic communications Chris Coombs.

DURING THE WEEK

Any member of the media wishing to interview a player or member of the coaching staff during the week should contact West Virginia women's basketball contact/assistant director of athletic communications Chris Coombs, via email (cacoombs@mail.wvu.edu) or phone (304-290-9685), at least 24 hours in advance. Cell phone numbers will not be made available and all WVUstudent-athletes have been instructed to not conduct interviews without prior approval of the sports communications staff.

ELECTRONIC MEDIA SERVICES

WVUsports.com is the place for media and fans to go for the latest on Mountaineer women's basketball. In 2025-26, streamed audio and video broadcasts, courtesy of Big 12 Now on ESPN+, will be available on WVU's official athletic website. Live stats are also available to keep track of every point. Player and coaching staff bios are available at the click of a finger by going to WVUsports.com. Updated following each game, WVUsports.com is your place to find the latest statistics for Mountaineer women's basketball. Not only will you find this season's stats, but you will also be able to find the WVU record book for some historical perspective.

AT THE GAME

Parking is free and open to the public in the coliseum parking lot. The working press area is located on the east side of the main floor at concourse level (22 rows from the playing floor). Press should enter through the Gold Gate with their credentials. West Virginia grants broadcast rights to the official radio outlet of the visiting team on reciprocal basis. Hope Coliseum also supports wireless internet access. Please see women's basketball contact Chris Coombs for login and password information. Complete statistics are provided to all working media at halftime and postgame. Requested team members and Coach Kellogg will be available for interviews via video conferencing following games.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS

Coach Mark Kellogg and Mountaineer student-athletes will meet with the media in the Hope Coliseum Team Theater (located next to the WVU basketball locker rooms on the event level) after the game.

DIRECTIONS TO HOPE COLISEUM

FROM I-68

Take the Pierpont Road (mile marker 7) exit and follow signs toward the football stadium by heading West onto WV 857. At second traffic light, turn left (south) on US 119. Drive up a steep hill; the Morgantown airport will be on your left. Continue straight past several car dealerships and at the second light turn right onto WV 705. Turn left at the sixth traffic light onto Van Voorhis Road. The road becomes Patteson Drive when crossing University Avenue. Proceed up Patteson to the light at Jerry West Boulevard. Go straight at the light into the Coliseum parking lots.

FROM I-79

Take the Star City/WVU (mile marker 155) exit and follow signs to West Virginia University, heading south on US 19 and across the Star City Bridge. Proceed up Monongahela Boulevard past Texas Roadhouse. The WVU Coliseum is just ahead on the right.

ANDREW CARIDI

Andrew Caridi was named director of broadcasting and voice for baseball and women's basketball in August 2022.

Caridi is an award-winning West Virginia University alumnus with a recognized connection to Mountaineer athletics behind the mic. He has been calling West Virginia game action for Big 12 Now on ESPN+ the last two years, handling play-by-play for basketball, men's and women's soccer, volleyball and baseball. Caridi also served as a fill-in play-by-play voice for women's basketball. In 2019 and 2020, he was honored as West Virginia Broadcaster's Association best play-by-play, and the Sportscasters Talent Agency of America named Caridi to the elite list of collegiate broadcasters nominated for a Jim Nantz Award.

In addition to his play-by-play duties, Caridi will host the Mountaineer football pregame and postgame radio shows throughout the season.

Cardi's affinity with West Virginia has extended to WVU Esports as well. He was host and commentator for numerous esports events by LEARFIELD's LevelNext in 2021, including WVU Esports Collegiate Rocket League Qualifiers, LevelNext FIFA22 College National Championship and various sponsored tournaments featuring Rocket League, FIFA and NBA2K.

Caridi previously served as the radio voice of Shepherd University football and basketball with WVRC Media until March 2020.

He resides in Morgantown.
